THE "QUEEN BEE" LAWN MOWER.

WHY WE RECOMMEND IT.

First—Because it runs more easily than any other machine made, and can be worked by a child with the greatest ease.

Second—Lightness, combined with strength in construction. Although light, it will stand more hard usage without breakage than any other mower made.

Third—By the simplicity of its construction having only one gear on each side, it never can get out of repair.

Fourth—It has an improved ratchet, which is not of dirt proof but perfectly silent, thereby doing away with much of the noise and racket of other mowers.

Fifth—Its material is of the best, only steel cast steel knives, tempered in oil are used and do not require sharpening once where others do a score of times.

ASK for this mower, insist on trying it and accept no other as being just as good.

THE HOUSE IS FOR FREE SILVER

Senate Committee Favors Coinage of a Fixed Sum Per Month.

INCREASED ISSUE OF BANK NOTES

The Amount Held in the Treasury Too Large—Senator Edmunds, Very Feeble, Leaves Congress for the Session.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—[OREGONIAN office, corner Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.]—The members of the house caucus silver committee had a two hours' session this morning. There was a general disposition to reach some kind of agreement, and a spirit of concession characterized the entire proceedings as a result. When a recess was taken indications were that the members had at last found common ground and that they would be ready very shortly to agree upon a formal proposition acceptable to themselves at least, although further modifications may have to be made to meet the views of the republican senators. The basis of the agreement will be the Windom bill as it emerged from the house committee on coinage, with the addition of a few provisions intended to meet the views of silver men. It will probably provide for unlimited purchase of bullion produced in the United States at a market price not to exceed $1 for 371.25 grains, and that when that price is reached there shall be free coinage. Treasury notes issued in payment for silver shall be redeemable in bullion or coin. At present this proposition has not been formally adopted, and the committee will have another meeting this afternoon.

A meeting of the republican senatorial silver committee was held this morning. The discussion at times was animated, but a spirit of compromise was shown. It was intended that the house and senate committees should meet in joint session to-night, but this was found impracticable, owing to senatorial engagements and the republican house caucus, which was to have been held to-night has been postponed indefinitely as a result of the death of Randall.

The afternoon session of the house committee lasted over two hours. Secretary Windom was present part of the time but contented himself with a reiteration of his views on the subject. He would abandon his opposition to the plan to make treasury notes issued in the purchase of silver redeemable in any thing else than silver bullion, but, having carefully discussed this matter, the committee decided to incorporate in the bill a provision allowing their redemption in bullion or coin, at the option of the purchaser. So the committee finally reached the agreement above outlined and will meet the senate committee to-morrow morning in joint conference.

The senate committee this afternoon reached a conclusion. Three propositions were agreed to. First, that the secretary of the treasury should buy 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion monthly and issue notes in payment for the same, the notes to be redeemable in bullion or lawful money; second, that national banks be allowed to issue notes to the full par value of the bonds deposited to secure their redemption, which would add 10 per cent to the volume of national bank currency; third, that the hundred millions retained in the treasury for redemption of treasury notes be put into circulation. The committee will meet the house committee to-morrow.

In the senate to-day Plumb introduced a bill for the disposition of certain funds in the treasury, and asked that it be read, as he desired to call the attention of the finance committee to it. It provides that the money required to be deposited for the exemption of national bank circulation be carried into the treasury and treated as funds available for reduction of the public debt, and for current expenses of the government, that all funds held for payment of matured debt and interest due and unpaid be similarly treated and that hereafter no funds available above the sum of $10,000,000 be retained in the treasury. This shall not be construed however as permanently diminishing the fund of $100,000,000 now held for redemption of treasury notes. He said there was less than $700,000,000 in circulation for the use of 65,000,000 people in the United States, probably not more than $10 per capita. The system of finance that had been maintained had brought about that result. It had its merits and its great defects. One of the greatest defects was the compulsory holding in the treasury of a very large sum of money, on the theory that it was needed, and on the further theory that the secretary of the treasury was to be the arbiter of the financial questions of the people.

It had been stated in the public prints that in pursuance of this policy of controlling the finance of the country, the secretary of the treasury had contracted the currency during February over $10,000,000. He (Plumb) believed that the retention of the money in the treasury and the assumption the part of the secretary to do what might have been one time proper, but which now constitutes a menace to the business of the country ought to be prohibited by law.

A senator sitting near him had asked him for what nominal purpose $250,000,000 was held in the treasury. He would tell him. A hundred millions was held in assumed obedience to the law of 1882, to provide for the redemption of legal tender treasury notes. Sixty odd millions was held for the redemption of national bank notes of banks that had gone out of business, or that were retiring a portion of their circulation; between five and six millions was held for the redemption of such notes of national banks as from time to time came into the treasury and were found to be unfit for further circulation; about seven millions was held for the purpose of payment of coupons due and not presented, and of bonds which had matured from time to time, but evidence of which had not been presented, and some of which would probably never be presented. As to the remainder, it was impossible to tell why it was held. The confusion of subjects and amounts was such that it was impossible for any one to tell about it, but the whole sum retained was about $250,000,000. During last year nearly $40,000,000 of national bank circulation had been withdrawn. To meet that reduction there was the coinage of silver of $2,000,000 monthly, and the coinage of gold, but experience showed that not only were these two agencies needed but there was also needed paper money to the maximum amount outstanding at any time.

The business of the country was languishing. New enterprises were withheld and old enterprises were struggling to keep on their feet. Such things would continue until a remedy was attained, and that remedy could only come by legislation, because legislation, combined with executive action, had brought the country to where it now was. Congress would legislate some of these days on the silver question, but no one knew when, and no one knew how. Whatever was done would result in a great addition to the money of the country, but this measure of his would give an addition at once and the money could be disbursed within sixty days. He had ventured thus publicly and briefly to call the matter to the attention of the finance committee, and he hoped it would report the bill, or something like it, after its next meeting. The bill was referred to the finance committee.

The treasury department has informed Senator Mitchell of Oregon, who forwarded a request of the Pacific Coast Elevator Co., that no drawback is allowed on imported bags when exported with American products, but bags of foreign manufacture exported with American grain may be returned empty to the United States free of duty, and that bags manufactured in the United States from imported material, when exported, whether filled or empty, are entitled to a drawback of the duty paid in the foreign material used in their manufacture, less 1 per cent.

Senator Edmunds has joined the list of distinguished congressional invalids, and has left Washington with his family for the South, to remain away until he recovers his health. He has been in poor health for some time, and his friends are concerned about him, but he thinks that a few weeks' rest and recreation will bring him around all right. Senator Brown, of Georgia, has not been in his seat since the opening of the present congress, and Senator Beck is still confined to his room.

Senator Hale is much disappointed at the turn events have taken in their application to the Chinese census bill. He had expected that the bill would slip through the senate without much opposition, but the determined stand taken by the Pacific coast delegation against the committee amendments make it probable that the bill will be delayed still further, and it may not reach final consideration this week. Mitchell will make an attempt to get it up for consideration in a day or two, as the important measures now pressing for place in the senate order of business may displace it permanently if it is delayed further.

Another suspension day will occur in the house on Monday week and it is probable that several bills of interest to the Pacific coast will be called up for passage. The bills providing for a new lighthouse tender for the Portland lighthouse district, for the purchase of a site for the construction of a wharf for the lighthouse service at Astoria, and for a first-order lighthouse at North Head, Cape Disappointment, Wash., are reasonably certain of being called up for passage.

IN MEMORY OF RANDALL.

Meeting of Public Men—Preparations for the Funeral.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A largely attended meeting of the friends of the late Samuel J. Randall was held at the Arlington hotel this morning to take appropriate action upon his death. The venerable ex-Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania, was selected chairman. Governor Curtin, a lifelong friend of Randall, made a most feeling address in calling the assemblage to order, and spoke of the deceased in terms of the tenderest endearment.

The committee appointed reported resolutions setting forth the nation's loss in the death of Randall. The speeches were warm in sympathetic feeling and eulogistic of Randall's high character, lofty ambitions, honest purposes, pure and exalted manhood, and firm and courageous duty to conviction. Speeches were made by Congressmen McCreary of Kentucky, Blount of Georgia, Rogers of Kansas, Interstate Commissioner Bragg and others.

There was a steady stream of callers at the Randall residence to-day to express sympathy with the bereaved family. A large number of telegrams of condolence were received from well-known persons. The remains will be taken from the house at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning to the church, where they can be viewed until 9 30, when the services will begin. At Laurel Hill cemetery the casket will be opened and an opportunity given friends of the dead man to view the remains.

The honorary pall-bearers are George W. Childs, A. J. Drexel, Colonel Alex K. McClure, Wm. McMullen, Ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin, Charles A. Dana, Senator Gorman, Ex-Congressman Sowden, Representative Blount, Senator Barbour and Dallas Sanders.

IN CONGRESS.

Crape and Flowers on the Desk of the Dead Statesman, Randall.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—An air of sadness pervaded the house when the speaker's gavel called that body to order. Draped in black and ornamented with a handsome floral design, the seat long occupied by Mr. Randall recalled to the members the fact that their old colleague has passed away forever. A crayon portrait of the ex-speaker hung in the lobby was also tastefully draped with emblems of mourning. In his prayer, the chaplain made a touching allusion to the dead congressman, and when he had concluded, O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, delivered a brief eulogy and then offered a resolution of regret at Randall's death, providing for a committee of nine members of the house to attend the funeral. The resolution was adopted.

The afternoon session of the house committee lasted over two hours. Secretary Windom was present part of the time but contented himself with a reiteration of his views on the subject. He would abandon his opposition to the plan to make treasury notes issued in the purchase of silver redeemable in any thing else than silver bullion, but, having carefully discussed this matter, the committee decided to incorporate in the bill a provision allowing their redemption in bullion or coin, at the option of the purchaser. Hermann Fails to Carry His Own County—Natural Gas at Astoria—Railroad Surveyors at Olympia.

ELLENSBURGH, April 14.—Fire broke out at 4 o'clock this morning in the Northern Pacific machine shops. The establishment, including the roundhouse, was totally destroyed. The latter contained several locomotives, only one of which got out. One of the immense 114-ton engines is included in the loss. The city fire department got to work promptly and saved the oil house near by, containing 20,000 gallons of oil. This saved the depot and other valuable property from destruction. Several freight cars and hangers were destroyed. The total loss is $100,000, which is covered by insurance, the company doing its own insurance. The works will be rebuilt immediately with double the capacity of the old ones.

SOLD TO THE UNION PACIFIC.

The Tacoma & Lake City Road Absorbed—A Suburban Line.

TACOMA, April 14.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—There is a rumor in well informed circles to-day which has been in circulation since last Saturday, to the effect that the Union Pacific railroad had obtained control of the Tacoma & Lake City railroad, now extending from Tacoma to American lake, a beautiful suburban sheet of water to the southwest. There have been reports concerning the original objects of construction of this road by Frank C. Ross and others. It has been the subject of common and current belief that the American lake road would some day pass into the hands of the Northern Pacific. The belief doubtless gained credence from the fact that the Tacoma road has a traffic agreement with the Northern Pacific to run into the Pacific avenue depot over the Northern Pacific tracks from a point several miles from the city, where the American lake road taps the Pacific division of the Northern Pacific.

The amount of money or terms of transfer could not be learned to-day, owing to the absence of Frank C. Ross and Chief Engineer V. G. Bogue, of the Union Pacific road. It is predicted, however, that they do not deny the purchase. The contract has been made out, and all that now remains is the signature of officials of the Union Pacific road.

DEMOCRATS CARRY BUTTE.

Montana's Second City Votes Against Sanders and Power.

BUTTE, April 14.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—To-day's election was for the selection of seven aldermen and mayor. It passed off very quietly, and altogether differed from anticipations of both parties. There were 3275 names registered, and about two-thirds of the vote was polled. It was a complete victory for the democrats, only one republican alderman being elected, and that with only a majority of 4. The issue of to-day was one of vital importance. It was stated that the citizens of Butte would sustain the action of the state canvas-ing board in throwing out precincts 34 and the right of the republican set of senators to seats in the United States senate. H. G. Valiton, democratic candidate for mayor, was elected by 255 majority, and the six aldermen by majorities ranging from 56 to 125. The next council will stand eleven democrats, three republicans, and a democratic mayor.

In Anaconda the democratic candidate for mayor was elected by over 400.

HELENA, April 14.—[Special Telegram.]—In Missoula the democrats elected the mayor, city judge and all the aldermen except one, the republicans electing the city treasurer. The principal issue in the campaign was the endorsement of party methods with reference to precinct 34, where the contest in the last general election originated.

Tillamook County Democratic Convention.

TILLAMOOK, April 12.—[Special Correspondence.]—The democrats of this county met to-day and nominated the following ticket: Joint representative, W. S. Cone, county judge, H. F. Holden; county commissioner, W. G. Kelso, county clerk, W. W. Cowder; sheriff, Sam Downs; assessor, N. P. Roberts, treasurer, ——, surveyor, J. D. Edwards; school superintendent, Mr. J. W. McVicker, coroner, T. W. Inman. H. F. Holden was chosen a member of the state central committee. W. S. Cone and J. A. Richardson were selected as delegates to the state democratic convention. H. McDermott, who tried to secure the re-nomination of treasurer at the hands of the republican convention, has announced himself as an independent candidate for treasurer, and the democrats endorsed him to-day by resolution. The democrats are hopelessly in the minority here, and have little chances of success, as the republican ticket is very strong and popular.

She was a large, fleshy woman and was generally thought to be quite healthy, but she must have died of heart disease. Mr. Huff had just returned from Centerville when he found her, and it is not known just how long she had been dead, as their two children, about 8 and 10 years, were at school.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

Oregon Granted Less Only Than New York and Michigan.

BOAT RAILWAY LIKELY TO FAIL

Improving Mouths of Streams, Pulling Snag and Other Marine Dentistry — New Surveys of Incorrect Streams.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—[Oregonian office corner Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.]—The following are understood to be the allowances in the river and harbor bill as agreed on for Oregon.

Mouth of Columbia river (less $75 000 appropriated by special act;)	$ 500 000
Cascade locks and canal, Columbia river	400 000
Yaquinas bay	125 000
Coos Bay	125,000
Columbia and Willamette rivers below Portland.	80,000
Siuslaw river and bar, commencement of work	50,000
Coquille river	30 000
Upper Columbia river	20 000
Willamette river above Portland, including Clackamas rapids and Ross Island	11,000
Umpqua river to complete existing project	9 000
Young's and Klaskanine to complete	1,600
Nehalem bay and bar to commence work	10,000
Tillamook bay to complete present project	500

The following new projects are proposed and surveys ordered for Oregon Tillamook bar enlarged improvement The last survey by local engineer was unauthorized and deemed incomplete. Coos Bay, for removal of shoals in the upper harbor, above and below Marshfield Willamette river for, deepening the channel on the west side of Swan island, as petitioned by the Portland board of trade New project for improvement at Clackamas rapids and Ross Island, the last survey being unauthorized by act of congress and not approved by the war department. improvement of the Willamette at Corvallis Lower Columbia river, on the south side, for snagging between Astoria and Woods landing Lewis & Clarke's river, for snagging Cowlitz river, increase of depth of channel to a minimum of four feet from Coquille City to Myrtle Point.

The money allowances for Oregon exceed anything ever before appropriated by congress, even with the senate amendments and in bills aggregating as much as the present bill for the nation as large, and the state can thank her representative in the house for these magnificent figures, as it is conceded by the members of the committee that to his persistence is due the great increase over former Oregon allowances from the same committee. The items for the Columbia river aggregate $1,000,000, and for a single waterway its allowance is only exceeded by that of the Mississippi river and the Sault Ste Marie canal and locks on the great lakes, where $85 000 000 in traffic passes through annually Oregon ranks next to New York and Michigan being the third state in the Union in the order and amount of allowances reported by the commission. About one-fifteenth of the entire bill for the national waterways goes to those of Oregon or will be expended entirely in Oregon The senate will also add to these figures with other allowances. It was not deemed prudent to insist on adding an item for the boat railway, although Mr. Hermann moved in the committee an amendment to the bill of $250 000 for commencement of the boat railway, in order to test the feeling to this enterprise, but the members seemed to prefer Mr Hermann's plan of submitting the project on its own merits or in alliance with Galveston and agreed that to add this to the bill might antagonize the house against the already large allowances for Oregon

Following are the projects for Washington:

Chehalis river to complete	$ 3 000
Cowlitz river	4,000
Skagit, Stellagkamish, Nooksack, Snohomish and Snoqualmie rivers to complete snagging	12,000

For Washington the following new projects are proposed and new surveys Improvement of Gray's harbor and bar, Gray's river, snagging, Nooksack, snagging.

The following amounts are allowed for California:

Oakland harbor	$25,000
Humboldt harbor	80 000
Wilmington harbor	84,000
San Diego, repairs and for commencement of jetty	50,500
San Louis Obispo	40 000
Napa river	10,000
Sacramento and Feather rivers	80 000
San Joaquin river	75 000
Petaluma creek	40,000
Redwood creek	5,000
Survey of San Francisco harbor, San Pablo and Suisun bay	14 000

For California there are ordered the following projects and surveys For improvement of the Sacramento river, to be considered by a board of United States engineers, San Rafael river, Redondo beach and harbor, Alviso harbor, Santa Cruz harbor, Mokutomne river, for snagging.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—[Pacific Postal Special]—It is altogether unlikely that Mr Dolph will get his big bill for the improvement of the Columbia river through both houses in its present form There is a general disinclination at this time, in both house and senate, to putting individual appropriations for rivers and harbors through, because the river and harbor bill will be ready before long, and all individual appropriations which go through at this time will have to be subtracted from the total amount which the house and senate are willing to give to this class of improvements. As there is a disposition to cut down these appropriations in the general bill now before the house committee, any proposition to appropriate a large sum for any individual improvement will meet with decided opposition from those who are interested in improvements elsewhere Mr Dolph's appropriation will probably go in the general river and harbor bill, and is likely to be cut down there.

A CORPSE IN A BARREL.

Copenhagen Murderer Ships His Victim to America.

NEW YORK April 14.—A Copenhagen cable of a few days ago told of the horrible murder of a factory messenger some time ago by one Philipsen, a soapmaker, who had confessed, and said he strangled the messenger for money he was carrying and packed the body in a barrel of lime, which he shipped to a fictitious name at Racine, Wisconsin It is now learned that the barrel arrived here on the steamship Thingvalla, February 4. It was shipped and charges paid by 'Mr Smith," and consigned to Boreaford Bros., Racine, Wells, Fargo & Co, being named as forwarders The cask was sent to the appraiser's office, where the head was taken off and a little of the contents examined, having a resemblance to plaster of Paris. The cask was then reheaded and set aside with duty fixed at $2 50. The express company wrote to Racine and learned that there was no such firm there. Word was then sent to "Mr Smith" in Copenhagen, but of course no reply was received

When Philipsen's confession was made known the authorities cabled the Danish consul here and the cask was examined by customs officials. The body was found in itsin a fair state of preservation, though those who opened the cask were driven away before more than one hand and the side of the face had been uncovered. It is not yet known what disposition will be made of it.

Duncan and Isaac Reese, made an assignment to-day, with liabilities estimated at $100,000 The exchange hopes to pay in full. The failure was caused by the recent rise in wheat and pork and a fall in certain stocks.

CHICAGO April 14—Wheat opened excited and higher at 89¾c for May, which was soon after quoted at 91c It continued to advance rapidly amid great excitement, and touched 92c, which proved to be the top figure for the time being. Then a reaction set in and at 11 15 the price was 89¾c

NEW YORK, April 14.—Operations in wheat started in with a rush this morning, making the opening price of May 94c against 91c the official close of Saturday There was much feverishness and frequent fluctuations between 92¾@93¾c, the noon figure being 93½c

NO WRECKAGE ON THE BEACH.

Storm on Lake Michigan Not Severe—The Handy Boy's Crash.

CHICAGO April 14.—The schooner Dreadnaught which was out in last night's storm came into port at South Chicago this morning all right The lights supposed last night to be those of a steamer in distress are now believed to have been those of tugs searching for the schooner There is no wreckage anywhere along the shore to-day and it is believed no wreck occurred last night

SAGINAW Mich., April 14.—The accident to the steamer Handy Boy yesterday seems to have been the result of gross negligence The man at the wheel was inexperienced and the current carried the boat along so rapidly that he lost his head at a decisive moment and turned the wheel in the wrong direction. In the excitement he then tried to signal the engineer to stop, but instead signaled "Go ahead full speed" The boat struck the bridge, and all the upper works and passengers were swept into the river. Many were rescued by small crafts putting out from shore, but some were lost The number is believed to be seven, but as no bodies have been recovered, it is impossible to say with any certainty Twelve or fifteen persons are slightly injured The wheelman fireman and engineer are under arrest, but Captain Dolesen made his way ashore immediately after the accident and has not yet been apprehended

The following is believed to be a complete list of the victims of the steamer Handy Boy disaster of yesterday Mrs Nevins, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs Walsh, Miss Haight Miss Owen It is reported that two men were also drowned, but this cannot be verified Captain Dolesen was arrested and locked up to night.

NON-UNION MEN SCARCE IN CHICAGO

New England Bosses Advertising in Old England for Mechanics—Eastern Building Trades to Strike.

CHICAGO April 14—Judge Prendergast of the county court to-day rendered a decision of importance to the striking carpenters He ordered the assignee of the firm which had the contract for woodwork on the Rand McNally building to go ahead with the work and concede all the demands by the carpenters He also informed a deputation of strikers that he would take no action affecting their interest without first consulting them

According to programme the master carpenters belonging to the Builders' Association to-day made an attempt to start up work to finish contracts with non union men The movement is not general as few non union men were on hand. It is declared that if the master carpenters continue putting non union men at work a general strike of bricklayers and masons will be ordered

Very few journeymen carpenters presented themselves for work this morning and seeing how matters stood refused to go to work Police protection is offered to journeymen carpenters, but it is refused by them, as they are afraid of the plumbers and gas fitters working in the buildings where work was to be resumed this morning There is no trouble so far, but it is feared that if the master carpenters put on non union men, as they say they will, there will be bloodshed The master carpenters have asked for police protection

The Iron Founders' Association has appropriated $10 000 more to be expended in bringing out Eastern molders. The strikers say they will not reject any proposition to arbitrate the strike but the manufacturers say any offer must come from the men, and that it will not be considered if it involves continuation of the union and its rules

THE DEATH OF TERRY

Supreme Court Orders Discharge of Marshal Neagle.

HE WAS A FEDERAL PEACE OFFICER

Chief Justice Fuller and Lamar Hold That the State Had Jurisdiction Over His Alleged Offense—Constitutional Questions.

WASHINGTON April 14.—The celebrated Neagle habeas corpus case from California was decided by the United States Supreme court to day, the judgment of the circuit court being affirmed This finally disposes of all proceedings against Neagle for shooting Judge Terry in the railway station at Lathrop Cal last August, to prevent him taking the life of Justice Field The opinion was delivered by Justice Miller

After the shooting Neagle was arrested at Bockston by state officers, but released on a writ of habeas corpus, based on the ground that Neagle who was acting under instructions merely performed his duty as an officer of the United States. It was on an appeal from this order that the case was brought before the United States supreme court.

After a review of the facts that led up to the assault, including the arrest of Terry for contempt in knocking the marshal down in court and then pursuing him with a bowie knife, and after reciting a so the numerous threats by Terry against Justice Field Justice Miller says 'It is useless to go over the testimony on this subject more particularly than this. It is sufficient to say the evidence showed that both Terry and wife contemplated some attack on Judge Field during his visit to California in the summer of 1889, which they intended should result in his death Many of these matters were published in the newspaper press of California, filled with conjectures of a probable attack by Terry on Justice Field as soon as it became known that he was going to attend the court of that year" The opinion then recited the correspondence between the attorney general and the United States marshal of California directing the latter to exercise unusual caution for the protection of Justice Field against the violence of the Terrys This correspondence resulted in Neagle's appointment as deputy marshal, with special instructions to guard Field both in court and while traveling between courts and to protect him from violence After reviewing all the facts bearing upon the homicide the opinion says they produce upon the court the conviction of a settled purpose on the part of Terry and wife to amount to a conspiracy to murder Field, and we are quite sure that if Neagle had been merely a brother or a friend of Judge Field traveling with him and aware of all the previous relations of Terry to the judge as he was of his bitter and enmity and declared purpose to have revenge even to the point of killing him, he would have been justified in what he did in the defense of Field's Life and possibly of his own.'

But such justification would be a proper subject for consideration on trial of the case for murder in the courts of the state of California, and there exists no authority in the courts of the United States to discharge the prisoner while held in custody by the state authorities for this offense, unless there be found in aid of the defense of the prisoner some element of power and authority asserted under the government of the United States.

Justice Miller then takes up the proposition advanced by Neagle's counsel, that Justice Field when he made the order in the circuit court discharge of his duty as judge and that Neagle was charged with the duty, under the laws of the United States to protect Field from violence The law requiring justices of the supreme court to go on circuits is quoted. Justice Field when attacked had actually entered upon the duties of his circuit, and was in the necessary act of returning from Los Angeles to San Francisco, where he was required by law to be when he was assaulted We have no doubt Justice Field when attacked by Terry was in the discharge of his duties as circuit justice, and was entitled to all the protection under those circumstances which the law could give him The court does not suppose any special act of congress exists which in express terms authorizes marshals or deputy marshals to act as body guard to justices while on their circuits, but in its view of the constitution it is fairly and properly inferable from that instrument that the duty of the marshal to be derived from the general scope of his duties comes within the provision of the constitution requiring release of persons who are in custody for an act done in pursuance of the laws of the state

It would seem the opinion be a great reproach to the judicial system of the United States, declared to be within its sphere sovereign and supreme if there is to be found within the domain of its powers no means of protecting judges in the discharge of their duties from the malice and hatred of those upon whom its judgments may operate unfavorably. If a person in the situation of Justice Field could have no other guardian of his personal safety while engaged in the conscientious discharge of the disagreeable duty than the fact that if he was murdered his murderer would be amenable to the laws of the state, and by those laws could be punished, the security would be very insufficient. The plea which Terry and wife had in mind of insulting him and assaulting him and drawing him into an offensive physical contest, in the course of which they would slay him, shows the little value of such remedies. We do not believe the government of the United States is thus inefficient and that the constitution and laws have left high officers of the government so defenseless and unprotected It is in the executive department that the court finds the power of protection to exist, and in the language of the constitution directing that the president 'shall take care that the laws shall be faithfully executed,' and providing him with means to fulfil this obligation by his authority to commission all the principal officers of the United States supreme court to institute suits to set aside patents obtained by fraud, though there is no statute on the subject recited in support of this doctrine. Continuing, the court says it cannot doubt the power of the president to take measures for the protection of a United States judge who, while in the discharge of his duties is threatened with violence and that the department of justice is the proper one to set in motion the necessary means of protection, and that Neagle had proper authority for the steps he took for the protection and defense of Justice Field. There is says the opinion, a peace of the United States, and the United States marshal in such case stands in the same relation as the county sheriff does in maintaining peace in a county It cannot be doubted that it would have been the duty of the sheriff, had one been present, to prevent the assault on Justice Field and prevent the murder contemplated by it, and, if it became necessary, to kill Terry In a case where, like this, it was evidently a question of choice of who should be killed the assailant and violator of law or the unoffending man who was in his power, there can be no question of the authority of the sheriff to have killed Terry The marshal stands in the place of the sheriff and it being his duty to guard the judge, and being present at a critical moment, when prompt action was necessary, it was his duty, a duty which he had no liberty to refuse to perform to take the steps which resulted in Terry's death.

The court next takes up the contention that the question of the guilt of the accused of the crime of murder is a question to be determined by the courts of California, and that the United States court had no power to take the prisoner and release him without trial by jury, according to the laws of California. The court's response to this contention is that the express terms of the habeas corpus act direct such courts where an act is done in pursuance of the laws of the United States, and such has been shown to be the case here the act of the prisoner having been committed in pursuance of a law of the United States he cannot be guilty of a crime under the laws of the state of California, and when it is shown that he is proved innocent of any crime against the laws of the state, there is no occasion then for any further trial in the state courts, and the United States circuit court was as competent as any other tribunal to ascertain whether the act was performed in pursuance of the laws of the United States and under proper authority, and if so to discharge the prisoner without a jury for the purpose. The judgment of the circuit court is affirmed, authorizing Neagle's discharge from the custody of the sheriff

LAMAR AND FULLER DISSENT

Justice Lamar, in behalf of himself and the chief justice, delivered an elaborate and vigorous dissent. He says that on the fundamental basis that in considering the habeas corpus act a wholly inadmissible construct on is placed on the word 'law' as used in the statute, and a wholly inadmissible application is made of the clause 'in pursuance of the constitution of the United States"

It is indispensable to observe carefully the distinction between individual men and the same persons in official capacities We agree, assuming the facts of the case to be as shown by the record, that the personal protection of Judge Field as a private citizen, even to the death of Terry, was not only right, but was also the duty of Neagle and of any other bystander, and we maintain that for the exercise of that right or duty he is amenable to the courts of California, and to them alone. But we deny that Neagle had any duty imposed on him by the laws of the United States growing out of the official character of Judge Field. In short, we think there was nothing whatever, in fact, of an official character in the transaction, and therefore we think the United States have, in the present state of our legislation, no jurisdiction whatever in the premises There was no authority for the release of Neagle

In conclusion the dissenting opinion says: If the act of Terry had resulted in the death of Justice Field, would the murder have been a crime against the laws of the United States; would the government of the United States have been competent in the present condition of the statutes to prosecute its own tribunals for the murder of its own supreme court justice, or even to inquire into the heinous offense through its own tribunals? If yes, then the slaying of Terry by appeal to necessary perpetration of such act was authorized on the law of the United States, and he should be discharged and that independently of any official character, the situation being the same in the case of any citizen but if no how stands the matter then? The killing of Terry was not by authority of the United States, no matter by whom done, and the only authority for relief or for vindication lies in that of the state, and the slayer should be remanded to the state courts to be tried The question then recurs, would it have been a crime against the United States? There can be but one answer Murder is not an offense against the United States except when committed in places where the national government has exclusive jurisdiction It is well settled that such crime must be defined by statute, and no such statute has yet been pointed out The United States government being thus powerless to try and punish a man charged with murder we are prepared to affirm that it is impotent to discharge from trial and give immunity from all liability to any trial any where unless any express statute of congress is produced commanding such discharge We are less reluctant to come to this conclusion because we cannot permit ourselves to doubt that if appellee had been indicted and gone to trial before a jury of his countrymen God and his country would have given him good deliverance

MODERN ORATORY AMONG ROMANS

The Doomed Czar and His Minions Have Promonitions of a Catastrophe—Great Demonstrations on May-Day

NEW YORK, April 14.—A cable dispatch from Rome describes the scenes in that city yesterday growing out of the attempt to cause a bread riot by unemployed workmen The government consented to a mass meeting of the idle men, but insisted that it should be held in the courtyard of the military barracks, an uncomfortable place in which to get up a revolution The courtyard was crowded with excited workingmen, and the neighboring streets were filled with carbineers and artillery A force of cavalry was also at hand. The entire precautions were directed by the prime minister The police inspector in command stood close to the president of the meeting, and warned the speakers when they handled the government too roughly The nobility, clergy men and middle classes were denounced.

Finally a workingman named De Sanctis declared that the government had reduced the toilers to a condition of slavery and would give them neither work nor bread The ministry had adopted a barbarous system of treating the masses and their condition was unendurable Here the the inspector warned the speaker, whereupon De Sanctis shrieked 'Take me to prison, I am tired of suffering" A terrific scene of confusion followed, during which the orator shouted "Our only hope is to take to arms"

The inspector put on an official scarf bugles were sounded and the workingmen were ordered to disperse. They roared angrily as the troops advanced with fixed bayonets and carbineers cleared the courtyard It was feared that the mob was about to attack the office of the minister of finance and the building was closed and prepared for defense Some of the mob fell upon the carbineers with sticks and several arrests were made

Later on a crowd tried to organize in the Piazza Dante, but was dispersed by cavalry All the prisoners were released last night except De Sanctis. Workingmen announce that they will hold a meeting next Sunday with or without permission A serious riot is feared.

It is said that the Sovereign the Neapolitan combination against Signor Crispi's government, will try to overthrow it at the approaching general election, and is secretly fanning the flame of discontent so that disorders may follow.

Little Conspiracies Divert Russian Police From the Main Point of Attack.

LONDON, April 14.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—Preliminary rumors of the discovery of a new nihilistic plot are coming in from St. Petersburg, and they seem more important than the others. There have now been three within a month, and the peculiar circumstances of each suggest that they have been purposely put in the way of the police discovery in order to divert attention from a central conspiracy.

Grewsome reports continue to be spread of the connection of high officials and youths of noble families with this present nihilist activity. For the moment there is a lull in turbulent students demonstrations, but this only intensifies the apprehensions of a catastrophe.

It is said that Grand Duke Constantinovitch has been arrested at St. Petersburg for being connected with the revolutionary propaganda.

CABLE NOTES.

England Closely Watching Africa.

LONDON, April 14.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—In the commons this evening Sir James Ferguson, under foreign secretary, stated that negotiations with Portugal in regard to Delagoa bay and Mashonaland were still unsettled. He would not, however, doubt the good faith of Portugal, which had declared that it would not sanction any expedition pending negotiations Germany, he said, had sent assurances that the Emin expedition would be confined to the German sphere.

Sir James Fergusson further said the government was not averse to submitting the Newfoundland difficulty to arbitration, but it was obviously impossible to succeed in that way unless all parties agreed to the order of reference.

It is no secret that the British East Africa Society has already begun preparations to send an expedition from Mombassa to the debatable lake territory in the interior of Africa in advance of the proposed German expedition to be sent out by Emin.

His Disease Manifests Itself in Other Parts of the Body

CINCINNATI, April 14.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—While in this city last week Edwin Booth received a letter from Lawrence Barrett, now in Europe, which leaves it appear improbable that the latter will ever again appear on the stage The letter communicated the fact that the operation to which Barrett submitted last summer would not finally relieve him of the neck affliction for which it was undertaken as a last resort. The gloomy tidings just received are in substance that the complaint has again manifested its enlargement of other parts of the body.

FOOLS AND THE FLOOD

Oakland and San Francisco Were to Be Ruined Yesterday.

THE PRETTIEST DAY OF SPRING

Mrs Woodworth's Doom—Sealers Waited on the Mountains Till Sunset for the Rolling Tide, Which Came Not.

SAN FRANCISCO April 14.—Notwithstanding the fact that it is the day on which according to the prophecy of the doom sealers, San Francisco and Oakland are to be destroyed by an earthquake and tidal wave there is no indication in this city of such destruction The day is beautiful and if any of the believers in Mrs Woodworth and Prophet Erickson who are now encamped on the hills in the neighboring counties, were in the city this morning their faith in prophecies would probably be shaken.

ST HELENA, Cal., April 14.—The Oakland doom sealers who came to St. Helena within the last two weeks, as a safe refuge in which to escape the predicted tidal wave and destruction of Oakland and San Francisco, to take place to day, are now fleeing to the mountains having discovered that St Helena is such a wicked place that they are not safe here A large number went to Howell mountain last week and a large party of negroes went to the summit of Mount St Helena this morning Further than their exodus to the mountains the fanatics are not creating much commotion to day It is slowly dawning on them that that this prophecy of evil has failed them, and about to morrow, it is thought, a large majority will return to Oakland.

VACAVILLE, Cal., April 14.—A look of quiet expectancy has settled on the faces of the doom sealers here The crowd have spent the morning in prayer and reading of Bibles and have confined themselves to their houses None have ventured beyond God's chosen precincts, as they call the place where they are located In response to a question as to the prospects for a shake-up, Hendricks, the apparent leader, advised the correspondent to go to God, but as to his movements in future was particularly reticent "God's will be done," he said "He will direct, and we will follow" "If the earth doesn't go up or down to day, what will you do?" "Go to God and find out," answered Hendricks Much indignation is expressed at the notoriety given Thomas and Erickson is regarded as a martyr They are very quiet and composed. There are no earthquake indications in the atmosphere One party of ten are located on a high peak in tents, and none have been in town to day.

SANTA ROSA Cals., April 14.—There was great excitement among Mrs Woodworth's followers this morning At first it was supposed Santa Rosa was in no danger, but since the Calaghan vision last week, the mountains are regarded as the only safe place Between seventy five and 100 left this morning at an early hour for the top of Taylor mountain two miles south of this city They were joined by a number of Salvation Army and Holiness people, who say they are going to have a picnic and spiritual festival whether the wave comes or not They are now engaged in singing and praying and many are laid out in trances. A number of people are seen along the streets looking at the mountain with field glasses.

CLINTON, Ill., April 14.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—A strange man committed suicide near here to-day He asserted seriously his belief in the prophecy that Chicago would perish to-day and that he could avert the dire calamity by offering his life as a sacrifice He could not be dissuaded from this delusion and while no one was present cast himself before a west bound train on the Illinois Central railroad and was instantly killed He was well dressed, and about 40 years old. Letters show his name to be Hamilton and his home to be near Louisville, Ky

A Man Whose Tonsils Were so Terribly Inflamed That His Throat Was Completely Closed.

Relieved in Forty-Eight Hours.

F. B. Taff Had Neither Eaten Nor Swallowed for Three Days and Death Was Inevitable.

He Consulted Dr. Aborn.

Lost Fifteen Pounds in Ten Days and Was Completely Cured in Four Days by Dr Aborn.

PORTLAND, Or., April 12th, 1890.

F B Taff being duly sworn, deposes and says: I was afflicted with a severe case of quinsy to such an extent that MY LIFE WAS JEOPARDIZED and I lost fifteen pounds of flesh in ten days, and for three days before applying to Dr. Aborn I COULD NEITHER EAT DRINK OR SWALLOW.

The inflammation was so great that I SUFFERED the most EXCRUCIATING pain in my throat, ears and head.

I was at Pendleton, Or., at the time, and at once sought the best medical aid that I could obtain there, but I continually grew worse instead of better under the treatment, and as it was A MATTER OF LIFE AND DEATH in a short time I immediately took the train for Portland to consult Dr. Aborn, Fourth and Morrison streets, who, I heard, was the most successful physician in the United States for the treatment of such troubles.

I arrived in Portland at 6 20 Tuesday evening, April 8th, and went direct to Dr. Aborn's office. Although scarcely able to speak above a whisper, I explained to the doctor how I was afflicted, and upon examination of my throat he pronounced it "QUINSY IN THE MOST AGGRAVATED FORM," both tonsils being so inflamed and swollen that MY THROAT WAS COMPLETELY CLOSED UP so that I could NEITHER EAT NOR SWALLOW. The doctor said, notwithstanding my dangerous condition, that he could relieve me in forty-eight hours, and I at once submitted myself to his treatment, and without cutting, scarifying, cauterizing or burning HE GAVE ME INSTANT RELIEF AS THOUGH BY MAGIC, and in forty-eight hours I was so COMPLETELY CURED that I could eat, drink and breathe as well as I ever could, and now, this being the fourth day, I am COMPLETELY CURED without being subjected to any harsh or painful treatment whatever and with a cheerful and grateful heart I take pleasure in commending Dr Aborn to the public as a most successful and skillful physician, for without his services I am satisfied that I could not have lived another forty-eight hours.

THE COUNTY SEAT OF ONE OF WASHINGTON'S MOST FERTILE COUNTIES.

Rich in magnificent timber and productive farming lands, and specially adapted for fruit tree culture, for which the county is already famous. Situated on the Columbia river, six miles from Portland, Oregon, at the head of deep sea navigation. Its central location renders it specially favorable for establishment of lumber and other manufacturing enterprises.

Is the terminus of the Vancouver, Klickitat & Yakima Railroad, which will soon tap the inexhaustible coal fields in the foothills of the Cascade Mountains, and already transports millions of feet of the most magnificent timber.

The bridging of the Columbia in the near future by the Union Pacific at Vancouver is now an assured fact, and will make it the shipping point of all inland freight by way of the Columbia, and bring it within twenty minutes ride from Portland. Is on the trunk line of the extension of the Union Pacific to the Sound, and the Hunt Railroad system to Eastern Oregon and Washington.

We invite the attention of capital, muscle and enterprise to the the superior advantages offered here for investment. Capitalists, merchants and manufacturers are wanted, and will receive hearty encouragement.

John L. Sullivan Will Have to Come Forward Now —Corbett Kilrain Thinks His Late Opponent is Afraid.

NEW YORK, April 14.—James Corbett, of California, was given a benefit to-night at the Fifth avenue Casino in Brooklyn, and in a three-round contest for points with Dominick McCaffrey made game of the Eastern man, outgeneraling McCaffrey at every point. This did not altogether please the 2500 spectators who were present, for they wanted to see a knock-out. In the first two rounds the sparring was light, but in the third and last round Corbett received hearty applause when he demonstrated how easy it was for him to do as he pleased with McCaffrey.

Steve O'Donnell, the referee, had no occasion for hesitation in giving Corbett the palm.

Billy O'Brien, manager of the affair, said he would bring Corbett and Sullivan together before long.

NEW YORK, April 14.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's sister, the Baroness Julie De Fonten illat, is to go on the stage this fall.

"I have always been passionately fond of the theater," she said to-day, "but never dreamed that the time would come when I should be forced upon it to obtain my living. Since my marriage, however, I have been greatly impoverished. Being driven to the necessity of supporting myself, I naturally turn to the profession which has the greatest charm for me, and which many eminent teachers of the art have pronounced me well fitted."

"Does your husband approve of your choice?"

"I have not seen my husband since last April. I fancy it would be useless to consult him with regard, either to my support, or my profession."

LANCASTER, Pa., April 14.—Judgments aggregating $50,000 were confessed to day by the Keystone Standard Watch Company.

The prospects are good for the establishment of a press club at Seattle. It is reported that fifty men connected with the various journals there favor the idea.

WORTH REACHING FOR.

Union Pacific Should Criss-Cross Washington With Roads.

PRICELESS TERMINAL FACILITIES

Northern Pacific Will Spend Between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000 in the Next Four Years, Largely in Washington.

CHICAGO, April 14.—The full text of the report of Government Director Spaulding, of the Union Pacific, of which mention was made in yesterday's dispatches, is printed to-day. Referring to the Pacific Northwest, Spaulding tells of the wonderful growth of Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma and other points in Oregon and Washington. It is certainly in the interest of the Union Pacific, he says, that it should be free to push its extensions forward in this fruitful field. The extensive business that emanates from the Puget sound basin now will be quadrupled within a decade.

In Spaulding's estimation it is imperatively demanded of the management of the Union Pacific that it push its Northwestern extensions until it has afforded the Puget Sound cities all the facilities they require. Seattle, Tacoma and Port Townsend will welcome the Union Pacific and extend to it privileges and franchises which are now valuable, but which in a few years will be simply priceless. Having made these connections it will be the greatest railway system in the world.

In speaking of the matter of settlement of the debt to the government Spaulding says the Union Pacific is an entirely solvent creditor whose business is constantly increasing and whose assets are more than sufficient to meet any obligation that it has incurred. It asks that its obligations be adjusted in a business-like way, to give it an opportunity of wiping them out without ruining itself. He bases his opposition to the extreme views of some who cry for seizure of the road, etc., on the ground that the good of the public would not be subserved by the threats they make. The inability of the Northern Pacific to meet its obligations precipitated the panic of 1873. Let not congress follow an outline of policy which would make it impossible for the Union Pacific to remain solvent and which may shock the financial world in 1897. The question ought to be settled by congress at once. The company should be placed in the position of a debtor solely, and be permitted to manage its own affairs without let or hindrance from the government. National interference in its management has only resulted in embarrassing it heretofore. It is bound to result so hereafter. Spaulding speaks in high terms of praise of the present management of the Union Pacific.

GRAND TRUNK & NORTHERN PACIFIC

About to Build a Line From Winnipeg to Victoria.

ST. PAUL, April 14.—A Pioneer-Press Winnipeg special says "A season of unusual activity in railroad building is promised in Manitoba and Northwest Territory this year," says a prominent gentleman who has just returned from London, England, where he went to confer with Grand Trunk officials in regard to the construction of a line from Winnipeg west to Victoria, B. C., via Vancouver Narrows and Yellowhead pass, the route originally selected for the Canadian Pacific railway by the Mackenzie government.

He says that in conversation with the secretary of the Grand Trunk, the gentleman made the positive assertion that surveys of the Canadian Northwest from Winnipeg to Victoria would without doubt be commenced this spring. He said the Grand Trunk and Northern Pacific would unite to build a road, and build it too, without unnecessary delay. It is well known that the Grand Trunk has had eyes on the Canadian Northwest for some time, and by an alliance with the Northern Pacific from Duluth westward into Manitoba, their object and effect inroads on the Canadian Pacific in Eastern Canada business. The fact has already been announced that the Northern Pacific and Grand Trunk people are behind the Duluth and Winnipeg, on the completion of which connection will be made with the Northern Pacific's Manitoba extension, which is now nearing the western boundary of Manitoba, some 200 miles from Winnipeg. This line will be further extended during the summer, and will doubtless form a part of the proposed grand trunk through line.

A. W. Ross, member of parliament for Manitoba, arrived here yesterday on a visit. In an interview he said the prospects for a Hudson bay railroad were extremely bright, and he thought the Dominion government will grant the full amount of aid asked for. "I firmly believe," said Ross, "that the Hudson bay road will commence this fall, the Manitoba Southeastern and Calgary & Edmonton roads will start, the Assiniboine & Montana road will be completed to Regina & Long Lake finished to Prince Albert, and the Great Northwest Central extended. Canadian Pacific engineers are already in the field at Glenboro, to run a line in a southwesterly direction to Melita, at which place it is intended to have the junction of the three roads.

VILLARD'S MIGHTY SCHEMES.

Involving Expenditure of Over Fifty Millions in Montana and Washington.

CHICAGO, April 14.—A Times St. Paul special says: Within the next four years the Northern Pacific will expend between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 in the Northwest. Henry Villard so informed the members of the Commercial Club at a banquet given in his honor. The bulk of this money will be used in Montana and Washington.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Points Which the Effete and Degenerate East Cannot Duplicate.

Detroit Free Press.

We extract the following from the last issue of the Arizona Kicker:

POOR OLD PAISY!—We never refer to our contemporary down the street if we can avoid it. In the first place, he hasn't got enough brains or office to deserve the title, and in the next he is a poor palsied old man who is gradually dying of envy and starvation, and we shall have to foot his burial expenses when he does go. The other week we mentioned our private graveyard and its five occupants. This so excited the jealousy of the old relic of the seventeenth century that he borrowed a revolver and took a trip around town yesterday in search of blood. He finally found one of Colonel McCracken's Digger Indians asleep in the sun and opened fire on him from a distance of four feet. He didn't even wake the redskin up, and Judge Taliman, who objected to so much noise around his house, went out and drove poor old Paisy away with a broom.

We are sorry for him. They say he cried while going back to his one-horse alleged newspaper, and no wonder. He should never have come West. He came, as we ascertained, to evade arrest for bigamy, but he should have taken some other route. When nature fits a man to raise holly hocks in New Jersey he has no business coming West to try to raise that other product.

NOT HIS FAULT.—A number of our townspeople have expressed the hope that we would pitch into Dr. Staghorn, the popular druggist, for killing old man Slew by putting up arsenic for quinine in a prescription. We shall do nothing of the sort. The doctor has not only increased his advertising one-half this week, but has subscribed for five copies of the Kicker to send away. While this, of course, does not influence us in the least, we know from personal observation that the doctor is a very busy man and that the room in his store is limited. He has no choice but to keep many different sorts of powders in the same drawer, and it is only to be expected that a mistake should happen now and then.

Furthermore, who was old Slew, anyhow? A lazy, dissipated vagabond, whom the boys would have hung in the course of a few weeks at best. In footing his funeral expenses the doctor has shown himself very liberal and fair-minded, and he has shown himself in various ways to belong to that class wanted in this town to build it up.

NO EXTRA CHARGE.—In this issue we publish the full particulars of two executions, one jail delivery, three shooting affrays, one highway robbery, two fist fights, three dog fights, one found dead, a drowning accident, the arrest of a road agent, the deaths of two Mexicans in the late blizzard, and the stealing of Judge Sprout's four-mule team.

The thing down the street, which calls itself a newspaper and talks about its light ning press and its wild-eyed corps of editors from New York, has, to match all this, a cooked-up account of a fight between a jackass rabbit and a government camel, with his editor for the sole spectator and reporter. Is it any wonder that the people of Arizona can't wait for the Kicker to be issued each week, and that dozens of them roost on our doorsteps all night Wednesday night to get copies the first thing Thursday morning? All this and no extra charge, and no handbills out announcing that anything unusual was going on!

Cabby Found Asleep.

Paris Dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph.

A somnolent cabman was enjoying a comfortable nap on his box this morning in the Rue de Metz when an enterprising person came along, cut the reins, unharnessed the steed of the sleeping Jehu, mounted the an mal, and tried to gallop it up the Faubourg Saint Martin. The nag, however, was almost as s eepy as its master, and refused to proceed at a pace brisk enough to enable the street brigand to get away. The cabman having been aroused from his slumbers by a good Samaritan who had observed the thief, rubbed his eyes and tried to ornament his features with a feeble smile, which was accompanied by a muttering malediction. At length, deeming energy imperatively necessary, the surprised charioteer seized his whip and proceeded briskly after the disappearing annexer of nags, who was ultimately conducted to a police station, where he treated the adventure as a pure joke. This species of horse play was, however, neither relished by the victimized cabman, nor by the police, who sent the thief to the lock-up.

THE NICARAGUA ROUTE

Recollections of San Juan del Norte in Early Days.

GRANADA IN THE INTERIOR

Greytown, on the Atlantic Side of Central America —The Attack by the Corvette Cyane— Walker, the Filibuster.

Those of the old incomers into California still resident in this city who, on their migration hither, says the San Francisco Call, chose the Nicaragua route, will still retain a vivid recollection of Greytown, the terminus of the old transit line on the Atlantic side of the continent. They cannot fail to see before them, in their mind's eye, the shanty-like houses, some with shingled roofs, others thatched with palm-leaves, that stretched along the western shore of the harbor, with their background of somber forest, and they will be able to picture before them the many-hued inhabitants of the place, the four but sun-tanned Anglo-Saxon; the jet-black Jamaica negro and swarthy Sambo; the piebald Mosquito Indian, the nut-brown Nicaraguan bungo-man, and the yellow-skinned mestizo. Those who passed along the same route at a somewhat later date, 1863-64, when the Central American Transit Line was open, will not forget that at that time the once extensive harbor was well-nigh silted up, that portion of it—by far the larger—opposite the town being grown up with tall sedge-grass, leaving only a narrow channel available for the passage of the river steamboats into the San Juan. In this great field of swamp grass, too, were open ponds, the resorts of mariads of wild ducks, which the sportsmen might reach in his canoe; while stretched on the drift-logs aground in the shallow water outside it the basking alligator tempted the delayed passenger to try the effect of a rifle or pistol bullet on its plate-coated ribs. The second transit line, however, was short-lived, and the inhabitants of San Juan del Norte were presently left to the resources of such trade as they could carry on with the interior and of the rubber-cutting industry, which formed no small item in the prosperity, such as it was, of

THE PLACE.

There is, however, at last a strong probability that Greytown will become in time an important port on the Atlantic side of Central America. If the scheme of the Nicaragua canal be successfully carried out, and there is no reason why it should not be, the harbor of San Juan del Norte will be made available for the anchorage of vessels of deep draught, and the town, which has been dragging along a stagnant existence for the last quarter of a century, will be resuscitated into an active vitality, with a capability of development to an unknown degree in the future. Its brief history is replete with the light and shade of alternating hope and disappointment.

During the dominancy of Spain in America it does not appear that anything in the form of a regular settlement was established on the site now occupied by San Juan del Norte, the Spaniards seeming to have confined their defense of the interior to the erection of the fortifications, Castillo Viejo and San Carlos, at the head of the river San Juan, designed more as a protection against buccaneers than other foes. After the independence of the Spanish colonies England again assumed her old pretentious protectorate of the Mosquito coast—a protectorate that had originated in the visits of buccaneers to that secluded country, and had been formally resigned by treaty in 1786. A settlement was forthwith established at the mouth of the San Juan, composed of British subjects and Mosquito Indians, the first house being built in 1824 by Bowden, Shepherd and three other settlers. Shepherd had before that date possessed a store on the opposite side of the harbor and had been engaged in carrying on a trade, probably contraband, between Jamaica and

GRANADA IN THE INTERIOR.

In 1836, however, a Nicaraguan force, under Colonel Quijana, descended the river and took possession of the settlement. Quijana was presently expelled by Colonel Macdonald, governor of Belize, but no sooner had the latter returned to his headquarters than the Nicaraguans again seized the place, and were left unmolested until 1848, when the British, under Captain Lock, R. N., drove them out and re-established the old order of things. The place had already been called Greytown, in December, 1847, after Sir Charles Grey, governor of Jamaica. On March 7, 1848, the president and congress of Nicaragua signed a treaty to the effect that Mosquitia should not be molested, though they reserved the right to prove their claim to the disputed settlement.

On the discovery of gold in California, and the consequent rush thither from the states and Europe, attention of capitalists was directed to transit lines that would insure a speedier passage to the land of gold than that by way of Cape Horn or across the plains. The Panama isthmus and the lakes of Nicaragua naturally offered the greatest attractions as transit lines, and in 1849 Vanderbilt and White obtained a charter from the Nicaraguan government for the construction of a ship canal along the San Juan river. Such an undertaking—if ever seriously contemplated—would have been the work of many years, and to meet the requirements of the time a second charter was obtained in August, 1851, authorizing the formation of the "Accessory Transit Company" as a graft upon the first. Under the new charter the projectors successfully opened a transit line in 1852, and thousands of emigrants to California selected this new route in preference to the Panama line. Steamboats of light draught were put upon the river, ocean steamers entered the harbor, which at that date was not silted up, and the route

BECAME VERY POPULAR.

Trouble, however, presently occurred. The company's agent and the captains of the steamers refused to pay port dues, and the authorities of Greytown, who flew the Mosquito flag, appealed to Commander W. F. Fead of H. B. M. brig Express, claiming their right to British protection. That officer, after consultation with the English consul, enforced the dues in the case of one steamer, a course of action speedily disavowed by the British government. From that time, however, a very unfriendly feeling existed between the employes of the company and the inhabitants of Greytown. But a great disaster was hanging over the town. About the end of 1853 Mr. Borland, United States Minister to Nicaragua, was on his way home on board one of the river steamboats. The captain having got into a wordy controversy with the "patron" of a native bongo, shot him; the arrest of the captain was resisted by the passengers, and when the minister landed at Greytown he was mobbed, struck on the head by a bottle thrown at him, and wounded. As an additional grievance the authorities of the place refused to surrender up a man in the employ of the company who was charged with having committed various thefts. The government at Washington now sent the United States corvette Cyane to Greytown with the demand for an indemnity of $25,000, and upon payment being refused the commander first bombarded the place, and then, landing a body of men, set fire to the houses and reduced the town to ashes. This occurred July 13, 1854.

And now the existence of the Accessory Transit Company was drawing to an end. By the middle of 1855 Walker appeared upon the scene, and in November the company in New York was notified by the government of Nicaragua

TO APPOINT COMMISSIONERS

For the purpose of settling matters in controversy with that country. Without entering into particulars, it is sufficient to say that the commissioners failed to appear, judgment was given against the company, the charter was declared forfeited and in August of the follow year all their property on the river and lakes was seized by Walker. Meantime, Garrison and Morgan obtained a new charter, and becoming possessors under its terms of all the old company's steamers, wharves, etc., held sway for a few months. But Walker's career was also drawing to a close. At the end of the year the Costa Ricans, under Spencer and Canty, made themselves masters of the river, capturing the steamboats and occupying all the important points. Walker, who was dependent upon the transit line for the arrival of men and munitions, was compelled early in 1857 to take refuge on board a United States man-of-war, and was conveyed away from Nicaragua, finally, to meet his doom in September, 1860, at Truxtillo. After the capture of the steamboats by the Costa Ricans the transit again passed into the power of the Accessory company, but it came to the front no more under its auspices. By a treaty between Great Britain and Nicaragua in 1860 the question of British protectorate of Mosquitia was brought to an end by

THE FORMER POWER

Recognizing that bogus Indian kingdom as belonging to and under the sovereignty of the republic of Nicaragua, since which time San Juan del Norte has been under the government of that state. Of several attempts at the re-establishment of a transit line, the only one which was partially successful was the Central American transit line, which, having attained a favorable charter, commenced work in 1862, having paid a stipulated sum of money to the Nicaraguan government, and receiving in turn all remaining property of the original company. But during the contending interests of the opposing parties in previous years, the navigation of the river had been almost destroyed by obstructions placed in the channel; the harbor of Greytown was silting up; and the great outlay of money that would be necessary for the opening of a permanent line was not within the contemplation of the new company. After being in operation, in a fitful and spasmodic manner, for a year or two, during which the California passengers had not unfrequently to be conveyed, under all kinds of discomfort, many miles down the river in canoes and bongos from the grounded steamboat the company closed its ticket offices, and Greytown, after her fits of excitement, sank into a sluggish repose.

An official of the Spokane land office reports that for the first quarter of 1890, eighty-seven original homestead entries were made, embracing an acreage of 12,982.19. Final homestead proofs were made and approved by the register in 142 cases, representing an acreage of 22,128.53. Nineteen timber culture entries were made for 2686 acres, while thirty-six entrymen made final proofs and received final certificates for 5479.11 acres of land.

MEASURING DUST.

Results Obtained With a New Apparatus on the Eiffel Tower.

Newcastle, Eng., Chronicle.

Mr. John Aitken reports the results of a number of tests made with a specially constructed apparatus in various parts of the kingdom as well as abroad, to measure the dust particles in the air. Last year advantage was taken of the Eiffel tower to test the air at a great altitude over a large city. There was considerable variation in the relative purity of the air on this tower, the extreme numbers being 226 particles per cubic centimeter and 104,000 per cubic centimeter.

About 200 particles per cubic centimeter is the lowest average yet observed—on the top of the Rigi and in the wilds of Argyleshire—but near villages the number goes up to thousands, and in cities to hundreds of thousands. It cannot be decided as to how much of the dust is of terrestrial origin, how much of cosmic origin, formed by millions of meteors which daily fall into the atmosphere, for even in the upper air there seems to be dust, as clouds form at great elevations. The effect of dust on the transparency of the atmosphere is very great.

"It Disagrees with Me."

A common remark. If you take Tutt's Pills you can eat anything you like, as they do no bad effects. They act specifically on the liver, stomach and bowels, causing a free flow of gastric juice, which is essential to good digestion and regular bowels.

Don't Fear Now.

Rev. R. Burts, Manatee, Fla., says: "Tutt's Pills are held in high repute as a Liver Invigorator. I hardly know how we could get along without them. Chills and fever have lost their dread. Our people take one or two doses of the Pills, and follow it with fifteen grains of quinine, divided in three doses during the day. The chill never returns."

Union county is evidently in a prosperous financial condition. County warrants are now worth ninety seven cents on the dollar.

Three-fourths of the taxes for 1890 have been collected in Wallowa county. Considering the hard winter this is an excellent showing.

The Wallowa Chieftain has finally summed up stock losses, in that county as follows: Cattle 10 per cent, sheep 5 per cent, and horses 2 per cent.

County Commissioner Imbler, of Wallowa, will hand in his resignation at the present term of court, the same to take effect July 1. This will necessitate the election of two commissioners in June.

A road to the Coquille country and beyond would be of great benefit to Coos bay. The immense mass of timber in that section would then be brought to the bay for milling purposes, and a half dozen more mills could be supplied with logs for years to come.

Last Thursday night about 9 o'clock E. W. Imbler's Swamp creek residence in Wallowa county, was destroyed by fire. The fire is supposed to have caught from a side lamp in one of the rooms, and was beyond control when discovered. Very little of the furniture and household effects were saved. The loss will amount to between $1500 and $2000; insurance $1000.

About four inches of fresh snow fell at the front on the Oregon Pacific Friday, but has about disappeared. There is still about two feet of the old packed snow at the end of the track. The company has men employed to make a report twice a week as to the condition of the snow, in order that work can be resumed as soon as possible. The work will be pushed forward vigorously this summer.

There has been somewhat of a famine experienced in the matter of firewood the past season, says the Salem Journal, and even now good fire wood costs $5 a cord delivered. This seems an exorbitant price in a country abounding in the finest timber; but the fact is, the expense of getting it here is so great that it cannot be sold for less. For instance the greater part of the present supply is brought here by rail, which involves a very large outlay.

On Friday evening about 7 o'clock, near Grant Hugh Lacy, a railroad employee while stepping from a moving train alighted on a bank of loose sand, and fell back under the car wheels, and was instantly killed. The wheels passed over his body, cutting him in two. One of his lower limbs was crushed, and a severe gash was found in the back of his head. He leaves a wife and one child, who reside at Rock River. He was a young man, perhaps 30 years of age.

The Union Scout says the Hunt railroad graders are doing good work and have about seven miles of the grade completed. They have been for several days past between Catherine creek and the Grand Ronde river. It was found necessary to change the channel of Catherine creek in order to save the building of two bridges and this was done by moving about 6000 square yards of dirt. There are about 60 men and 35 teams now at work. Another carload of implements are due at this place, and when they arrive the force will be increased to about 100 men and 55 teams.

WASHINGTONIANA.

Cheney officials have been busy lately in arresting and chasing tramps out of the town.

The residence of Charles F. Woehr near Pampa, forty miles west of Colfax, burned Thursday last, $800.

The Seattle Observer thinks that the death of Holt, the smuggler, was the result of a conspiracy.

The democrats of Seattle had a regular Jeffersonian banquet last night. The democracy intends to have some fun even if not the pleasure of electing candidates.

The Seattle Journal says that of the relief fund $20 000 remains unexpended, and suggests that the balance be devoted to assisting in the establishment of a home for friendless boys and girls.

During the recent wind storm the Silver creek school house in Whitman county, was discovered to be on fire but before any serious damage was done the flames were extinguished by the schoolmaster and large scholars.

Engineer Hughes, of the little steamer Success assaulted Captain Thomas Davis of the Idaho at Whatcom Thursday night on account of an old grudge. Davis was knocked from the wharf and would have drowned had not by standers rescued him.

The work of clearing the timber off of the hill just south of Fairhaven is being pushed, and good progress is being made. At night the burning timber shows to good advantage, many trees being 100 fee in height and are a mass of flame from the bottom to the top.

Felix Shaner who stabbed William Lee at Wenatchee several weeks ago and was convicted of the crime of assault to commit great bodily harm, was sentenced last Monday by Judge Graves to two years in the penitentiary at Walla Walla, which is the full limit of the law.

The county commissioners of Yakima have been petitioned to form an irrigation district including 75,000 acres. The cost of putting water on the land is estimated at $4 per acre, and the cost of clearing land of sage brush $2 per acre. A great deal of government land within the proposed district is being taken up.

The Chehalis Standard says: The county papers are urging the farmers to plant more potatoes and it is advice that should be heeded. Not only more potatoes but more of every kind of home grown produce should be raised in Eastern Washington. There is a fortune awaiting every man who will till a small farm in any of this region and sell produce in the nearest city.

The Republican, Farmers of Olympia, rejoices at the prospect of factory activity. The paper says: More room for the factory hands, coal bunkers seven miles more of panel fence, two school houses, to cost $6,000 together, all in the state a new tannery, a factory water reservoir of a million gallons capacity, the dissident electric lights, a sawmill of 100 000 feet daily capacity and yet this is only the list of the improvements that will come to Olympia within the year.

If you feel out of sorts, cross and peevish, take Dr. J. M. Leath's Sarsaparilla; cheerfulness will return and life will acquire new zest.

EVEN SCALES OF JUSTICE.

The April Term of The U. S. Circuit Court Opened.

Orders Issued—The Grand Jury in Session—Reason Dethroned—New Citizens—Marriage Licenses—Other Legal Notes.

In the United States Circuit Court yesterday in the case of the Washburn Moen Manufacturing Co. against Knapp, Burrell & Co. to recover damages for an alleged infringement of a patent on barbed wire and for a provisional injunction to enjoin defendants from further alleged infringement, Judge Deady decreed that said provisional injunction be denied. Out of same matter a suit to the bill was sustained and the court found that the invention described in reissued letters of patent was not the same as that described in the original patent and was therefore void, and it was ordered that the bill of complaint be dismissed and the defendant recover costs.

THE APRIL TERM OPENED.

The April term of the United States Circuit Court was opened by Judge Deady. Present: Clerk Hanford of Washington was present and will assist in holding court for a few weeks.

Patrick Holland, who although not a lawyer has accumulated a large hoard of legal experience and legal phrases having failed to secure counsel to conduct his case appeared for himself and as he claimed is present by the legal acumen he displayed which bids fair to allow the falsity of the old saying about the man who acts as his own lawyer having a fool for a client.

Although the names of several of those who were indicted are known no mention will be made of them until the papers are served.

CAPT. TROUP ON THE SOUND.

Capt. Troup, now superintendent of the river and ocean division of the Union Pacific railway company, has returned from his business trip to the Sound. The captain has been making himself familiar with the workings of the company's steamer lines over there, and will devote considerable time to the drawing up of a new schedule, which will afford more rail-factory accommodations to the Sound public and at the same time, may possibly have a tendency to reduce the running expenses of the company's boats. Other changes will also be made on the Sound, the import of which the earthen does not at present wish to make public. The new schedule will shortly be published.

Persons wishing to take the examination should write at once to the Civil Service Commission Washington, D C for application blanks and instructions.

C. S. McComas, of Union, one of the projectors of the town of New Walla Walla, was seen in the city yesterday. Mr. McComas is very enthusiastic over the future prospects of this new burg. It is said to have one of the finest water powers in the state, and six mill sites are already selected. Mr. McComas is an old time newspaper man. He started one of the first newspapers in Eastern Oregon, the Mountain Sentinel, which he edited for a number of years.

This committee met in the office of Williams & Williams, architects, yesterday afternoon. Plans were selected and the architects were instructed to call for bids as early as possible.

AND SO THEY WENT FISHING.

William Chapman, Jack Matthews, J. D. McKay and Abe Tichenor Return From a Still Hunt.

William Chapman, Jack Matthews, J. D. McKay and Abe Tichenor returned from a fishing jaunt up Gale's creek yesterday morning, and if rumor is true they got the fish without buying them. They left Portland Saturday afternoon for Roseburg, there they took a rig and rode fourteen miles down the creek, where the trout were supposed to be thicker than office seekers in a county convention. Matthews and McKay were appointed a committee on fireworks, as fishing had to be done by torchlight. Arming themselves with an axe they started out to find some dry wood with which to build a fire, but before they were gone long they not only lost their bearings, but themselves as well. They got into an almost impenetrable jungle, with nothing but their noses for a compass. Matthews went one way and McKay must have gone another, as neither was within hearing distance of the other, or any one else after half an hour's crawling through the dense underbrush. Fortune, however, favored them, for they again found each other. After building a roaring fire, they started to return to camp. This was no easy task. They worked their way through the brush another half hour and then were gladdened by the sight of a bonfire, which they supposed marked the waiting place of Chapman and Tichenor. When they reached the spot they found the fire which they had built themselves.

In another hour they were back to camp. They fished all night, but four trout, picked up some where by Abe Tichenor, was the result of their efforts.

Sunday Tichenor was sick from over-exertion the night before. He stretched himself out on the bridge to try the sun bath cure, and found it of great benefit. In the afternoon all fished, and the following is their score when they closed their baskets: Chapman 42, Matthews, 29, McKay 28, Tichenor, 14.

STYLE.—The newest cut and best fitting garment is what every gentleman wants. Our stock, being entirely new, contains no "ancient landmarks," but was manufactured for the Spring and Summer season of 1890.
QUALITY.—The best material is what we aim to sell at all times, thus combining elegance of style with that of quality. The finest fabric, if turned out a misfit, loses its charms and prestige to those who dress neatly. We have none such.
PRICE.—Ours is the strictest one-price system, no fictitious values; no auction; nothing thrown in, nothing thrown off. The best posted will not buy for less than those not gifted with as much knowledge about the cost and value of goods. The fact that we are successful indicates that our prices are right.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, APRIL 15.

OCEAN TRANSPORTATION.

In a recent report the consul general of the United States at Berlin wrote to the state department: "There is scarcely a maritime nation in the Old World which is not now struggling, either by means of direct bounties on construction and navigation, or by liberal subsidies for mail service to foster and sustain a commercial marine under its own flag."

In former times the United States fostered its shipping interest by a system of discriminating duties. That is, goods imported in American vessels were admitted at lower rates of duty than those imported by foreign vessels, and special tonnage dues were collected from foreign vessels entering our own ports. Before the passage of these laws foreign vessels did almost all our ocean freighting. But within a few years after the laws were enacted our own vessels had gained 90 per cent. of the ocean carrying trade of this country, which they held till the acts of protection were repealed, when American shipping began to shrink and dwindle, and the retrograde movement has continued ever since. It is a mistake to suppose that the civil war was the main cause of the loss of our shipping. The decline is the result of causes in operation long before the war, and he this cause the result would be substantially what it is, had the war never occurred.

The plain reason why our shipping is not what it was once is the fact that we do not support it as we once did. It would be inexpedient now to return to the system of discriminating duties, since our treaties with foreign nations would forbid us to do so, and moreover such an act would invite retaliation and shut our products out of foreign markets; but still we have means of protecting our commerce and navigation, if we will only employ them.

The house of representatives has received from its committee on merchant marine a report on the state of our shipping, with a bill "to place the American merchant marine engaged in the foreign trade upon an equality with that of other nations." The report presents a new method—new, that is to say, in this country—of granting aid to American vessels in the foreign trade. It recommends that there shall be paid out of the treasury to any vessel of more than five hundred tons register, whether sail or steam, constructed in and wholly owned by citizens of the United States, and engaged in the foreign trade, plying between ports in the United States and foreign ports, 15 cents per gross registered ton for the first five hundred miles or fraction thereof sailed outward, and the same for the first five hundred miles or fraction thereof sailed inward, and 30 cents per ton for each one thousand miles thereafter, and pro rata for any distance less than one thousand miles. The payments at thirty cents for each one thousand miles sailed are to continue ten years, and thereafter for another term of nine years at a reduction of three cents per ton each year upon each one thousand miles sailed.

This bounty system is designed to be the equivalent of the advantages which English and other ship-owners receive through expenditure of government money in "subsidies," "subventions," "admiralty advances" and other forms of aid. It is suggested as the best available method of furnishing assistance to our unprotected transportation, which certainly, without aid in some effective form, cannot possibly rise in competition with the assisted shipping of other nations. Under the act proposed it is calculated that the treasury would pay out in bounties the first year about $3 500,000, and that in eight years the amount would probably be $5,000,000. But, as ocean transportation is a very fertile source of gain, the country would speedily recover the money through extended markets, better profits and increased prosperity.

ACCEPTED AS A NECESSITY.

Among the best informed of all American correspondents in Europe is George W. Smalley, of the New York Tribune. Writing about the recent changes at Berlin, Mr. Smalley says: "Prince Bismarck has been sacrificed to the emperor's ambition, to his passion for personal rule, to his longing for glory, to his belief in his own all-sufficing power of insuring the good of the country, which, for good or ill, he is resolved to govern alone." Of course, this is not publicly discussed in Germany, as so important a political event would be in America. Press censorship, the influence of the court and other causes stifle outward expression on such a subject, and men speak only in guarded whispers about what all men know. Mr. Smalley says:

> You will look in vain in German papers for the facts. There have been hints of the truth, but the penalties for telling too much truth in Germany are heavy, and even private speech is fettered. "Do not come to Berlin now," writes a friend; "no man here, even to his wife, dares say what he thinks. The emperor contrives to hear every word uttered by the humblest." It was said elsewhere that Berlin received the news of the chancellor's fall with indifference. "Oh, no!" says another friend, in his German way. "I: was a thunderstroke which left us stunned."

Yet, though this despotism exists in Germany, no people in the world are more capable than the Germans of self-government; no people naturally would be less inclined to submission to despotism. But Germany, to preserve her independence and prevent foreign oppression, has been obliged to support a military monarchy and to allow suppression of individual freedom. If the military pressure of her powerful neighbors were removed there would be an instant revolution in Germany. She simply bears the ills she has rather than fly to others that certainly would be worse. A military despotism is endured in Germany simply as a necessity of national defense.

THE WISDOM OF CONCILIATION.

The portentous mutterings of discontent that have long been heard throughout the labor world become louder and more deep as the first of May approaches. This was the date fixed some months ago for a general demand to be made all along the line for a reduction of the working day to eight hours without corresponding reduction in the price paid for labor in the various trades. Members of labor trades' unions all over the country have been getting flour into the barrel, so to speak, in anticipation of a siege that is likely to last some months, permitting no replenishment of stores. It is neither wise nor commendable for employers to make light of this threatened paralysis of industry, or to bid defiance to the spirit of discontent in the ranks of labor. It is clear that, whichever side was to blame in the start, the quarrel has grown, as quarrels will, until both parties to the conflict have become unreasonable, and that there must be mutual concessions before the wheels of industry can again move on in their accustomed grooves, unvexed by obstacles foreign to their progress. Nothing can be accomplished by stubbornness of the kind that, regardless of consequences, simply will not yield. Neither the one side nor the other can claim to be wholly in the right in this contest, and as conciliation must eventually rule in the premises, it will be wise to employ its kind offices at an early day, and avert not only the threatened deadlock upon industry, but the suffering and despair that must overtake a myriad of laborers' homes in the event of long continued strikes and determined lock-outs in the various vocations. The trouble is not likely to be in the firmness of either side, backed by the simple justice with which demands are made and resisted, but in the stubbornness that scorns to take counsel of conciliation, refuses to believe it possible that the error can be on the side that it champions, and with an offensive swagger proclaims the world unable to get along without its forces. The certainty with which such a spirit begets a like spirit in an opponent is only equalled by the impossibility of such elements reaching a reasonable and just conclusion. A council, not of war, but of peace, should be called in every community if necessary, to which combatants should be invited to present their claims and counter claims, with a view to an adjustment by unprejudiced and relatively disinterested men. Patience, tolerance and justice are the forces necessary to formulate a platform upon which the contending forces of capital and labor may meet and become reconciled.

PAWNBROKERS' RATES.

Our dispatches yesterday announced that a bill is before the New York legislature to reduce pawnbrokers' rates. The law of New York allows the pawnbroker to charge 30 per cent. a year on loans of not over $100 and 18 per cent. on greater sums, and he is required to pay $500 a year for a license and give security for the proper conduct of his business in the amount of $10,000. The law requires that the sale shall be by public auction after the property has been kept a year and after it has been advertised for at least six days in at least two daily newspapers. The pawnbroker is also prohibited from buying in the goods himself, but of course this could be evaded by a confederate really representing the pawnbroker and purchasing the goods at much less than the real value. Most borrowers when once they have let their property remain in the pawnbroker's shop for a year regard it as practically sold for the mere amount of the loans received, and give it no further thought, but the law is that "any surplus in the amount obtained for the property over and above the loan and expenses must be paid to the borrower. Therefore it is to the interest of a pawnbroker illegally buying in the goods that there shall be no apparent surplus; but the original owner has only to apply to the Mayor's Marshal to get redress in accordance with evidence presented or obtainable.

This is the law in New York, and it is substantially the law in this state. The rates charged by pawnbrokers seem high, but several years ago the managers of the Mont de Piete, at Paris, the great pawnbroking establishment under government supervision, reported that at one per cent. a month loans of under one dollar do not pay the expenses of record and handling. The average loan there is less than five dollars. The security offered is generally linen, clothing, jewels and firearms, and in order to make the business pay the pawnbroker must charge a high rate of interest, for the law requires the keeping of full records of the numerous petty transactions and the storage and care of goods involves much cost and labor.

AFRICAN GEOGRAPHY.

Our dispatches yesterday reported that Portugal has dispatched a large force up the Shire river. The Shire river is the great northern tributary of the Zambezi, which it joins at the apex of its delta some ninety miles from the sea, and presents, with only one break of seventy miles, a clear, navigable waterway of 550 miles to the northern extremity of Lake Nyassa. From this point British engineers have constructed a roadway 200 miles long to the southern end of Lake Tanganyika, which is 400 miles in length. There remains only a gap of less than 200 miles between the northern end of the last named basin and the Victoria Nyanza. When that is bridged over there will be a route from the mouth of the Zambezi to to the mouth of the Nile.

From the mouth of the Zambezi, which Livingstone called "the door of Central Africa," there is clear navigation for nearly 600 miles, save a break of thirty-five miles at the rapids, 250 miles from the sea. These facts make it clear how important a stream the Shire river is, and we may be sure the British government will not divide its control with any other power, for should England ever wish to subdue Soudan she could strike it by this Zambezi route instead of from Suakin across a horrible sandy desert. By this route between the mouth of the Zambezi and Khartoum on the Nile it would be a complete waterway, save the seventy miles break on the Shire, the 200 miles roadway to Tanganyika and less than 200 miles from the last-named lake and Victoria Nyanza. It is fair to presume that some day the re-conquest of the equatorial province of Egypt, evacuated by Emin Bey, and the recovery of the Soudan will be attempted via this Zambezi route, thus saving the terrible desert campaign from Suakin.

Mrs. Grant is arranging for publication the letters of her husband written to her during the active period of the war of the Rebellion. As an unofficial, and in a sense a confidential statement of the part that Gen. Grant played in bringing peace out of those troublous times, together with his private impressions of the various battles in which he was engaged, this compilation will be possessed of an interest that does not pertain even to his personal memoirs of the war. The letters were written in the heat of the conflict, and are a record of the every day happenings of a period of darkness and struggle as detailed by an active participator therein to one who was an anxious and interested listener at home. The memoirs of the general were invested with the halo of time, and were to some extent, at least, the product of his revised judgment. Careful editing of these letters will be necessary, of course, since though General Grant was a taciturn man, and guarded his speech closely he no doubt said things in these letters to his wife relative to army management that could be easily construed into uncomplimentary comment upon the acts of others. There are two classes of letters that wise men concede it to be foolish, not to say dangerous to write and he who, deaf to the dictates of prudence, writes love letters (unless to his wife), or political letters is likely to live to regret his folly. These letters of General Grant, not belonging to either of these classes will doubtless prove interesting to the public without casting obloquy upon their author. It is somewhat puzzling, however, to see how Colonel Fred Grant is going to get any notoriety out of the promised publication, but, being adept in this sort of thing, he will probably manage someway to remind the public, in connection with the matter, that the eldest son of General Grant still lives and is at present quietly sojourning in Vienna.

The reticence amounting to absolute dumbness that is the usual characteristics of the railway official has been broken by C. P. Huntington and confusion in railroad circles is the result. Senator Stanford, taken completely by surprise, demands with becoming gravity that the implied charges against him in connection with Southern Pacific affairs be investigated, while Huntington, professing perfect willingness to accommodate him says that he made no serious charges against Stanford. Colonel Crocker, evidently thinking that enough has been said urges both men to refuse interviews with reporters, and the attorneys of the company, knowing better than the managers themselves what is likely to happen in the event of a full airing of the matter of differences between the two big men of the company are exerting themselves to effect a reconciliation. The furore raised proves that Huntington was right when he declared, in that famous interview that politics and railroading do not go well together. The public has long been convinced of the truth of this estimate. Nevertheless it was surprised at the endorsement of the same from headquarters.

Colonel B. H. Grierson, of the Tenth cavalry, who has succeeded to the brigadiership, made vacant by the promotion of General Miles, entered the Union army as major of the Sixth Illinois cavalry in 1861, became its colonel in 1862, was a brigadier general of volunteers in the summer of 1863, and a major general in 1865. The next year he was commissioned as colonel of one of the colored cavalry regiments in the regular army, and has had no advancement since. He was a famous raider in the civil war, and his brevets of brigadier general and major general in the regular army were for gallant and meritorious service respectively in "the raid through Mississippi in 1863," and in "the raid through Mississippi in 1864." His commission of brigadier general of volunteers was also given specifically for distinguished services. General Grierson will be retired for age July 8, 1890.

After long labor the executive committee of the Ballot Reform League has finished the draft of a bill to be presented to the legislature, designed to introduce and carry out in our state what is known as the Australian elective system. In order that the measure may obtain consideration, the bill is submitted to the people of the state through THE OREGONIAN. It is hoped that it will receive general attention. Criticism is invited, with a view to getting the bill in the best possible form for presentation to the legislature. Painstaking effort has been made to bring all its features into harmony with the constitution, so that objection on constitutional grounds may be avoided. We think public opinion in Oregon is ripe for this system of ballot reform, and the task now remains to perfect an act that will be suited as nearly as possible to the conditions existing in our state.

Kemler, the New York murderer who is to be "done up" with electricity at some date during the present month, not specified, is said to have been "converted." Heretofore he has been described as a creature of brutal instincts, stupid and stolid, without love of life or fear of death. The alleged change in this case must have been as marvelous and sudden as the manner of his taking off promises to be.

The man who goes up in a balloon and comes down with a parachute, proves two things. One is that he can perform this useless feat, and the other is that he is exceedingly foolish. Of course every one is entitled to his own opinion as to whether the great results achieved are in proportion to the risks taken.

PERSONS WORTH KNOWING ABOUT.

Charles Hoover, of Uniontown, Pa., is 16 years old, 6 feet 4¼ inches high, and weighs 163 pounds.

Joseph Cook and Oliver Wendell Holmes sat side by side at the first ball game of the season in Boston last week and ate peanuts out of the same bag.

Rev. Dr. Cuyler has concluded his thirty years' pastorate in the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian church, Brooklyn. The reverend gentleman is nearly 70 years old and will retire.

Stagg, the famous Yale pitcher, will play base ball this season. He will go into the ministry eventually. At present his delivery of the base ball is more profitable than his pulpit delivery.

James E. Kelly, whose illustrations in the Century and St. Nicholas a dozen years ago were so much admired, is now busy with a colossal statue of an American woman "Calling to Arms," for a soldier's monument in Troy. The figure is now being modeled in clay and is over twelve feet high.

D. E. Brockett during the recent presidential campaign rolled a monster ball through thirteen states—a distance of 5,000 miles. His long journey ended in General Harrison's front yard at Indianapolis. Mr. Brockett is now a trench-digger in Washington. He spent all his money on that unlucky ball.

Grover Cleveland, it is now intimated by those close to him, does not really want to run for president in 1892. He would like to have the nomination tendered him as a sort of "vindication," and in order that he may decline in favor of William C. Whitney. David B. Hill is not supposed to be in this deal.

Secretary Rusk recently had a lively argument with Postmaster-General Wanamaker regarding the game of poker. Rusk is a clever manipulator of pairs and flushes, while Wanamaker calls the great American pastime a most immoral institution. Those who heard the discussion say that Rusk was a winner hands down.

Gov. Campbell of Ohio since he entered upon his office is reported to have become "grave and dignified as compared with his former jovial manner, and has the studied air of a man who bears the terms president and vice president sung continually in his ears." He will have plenty of time to practice dignity before he is called upon to exercise it in either office.

Mrs. Morton, wife of the vice president, is not only a beautiful woman, but a kindly and gracious one. She has, moreover, a sweet and well-trained voice, and a capacity to touch the right conversational note under difficult circumstances. Notwithstanding her wealth and her sump uous way of entertaining, her five young daughters are brought up in the most rigid simplicity of dress and habit.

Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is a nervous, excitable man, with hands which are "long and lank and brown, as is the ribbed sea sand." These he is always nervously washing with invisible soap. He is a most lavish entertainer, if not exactly a model host, and he has spent not a small but a large fortune in dinners and other entertainments since he went to Sophia. He is profuse with his gifts to all in or about the court, and many an embarrassed officer has been relived of burdensome debts by the kind-hearted prince.

SPIRIT OF THE NORTHWEST PRESS.

THE BOURBON ORGAN STYLE.

Helena Journal: The democratic press of Montana are enjoying themselves over the vulgar tirade delivered in the senate by the liquor-crazed Turpie, of Indiana—a man who secured his seat in that body by means that will not bear the light of day. His speech is so much in line with the blood-letting, hair pulling, whoopoty-whoop style indulged in by the bourbon organs early in the legislative controversy that it is little wonder it is enjoyed by them.

NO AGE FOR FOSSILS.

Marshfield Coast Mail: There are quite a number of superannuated fossils in this county who stoutly argue that a railroad would be of no benefit to the county, and that we are much better off as we are without one. They argue much as the West Virginian, who opposed Sunday schools, saying, "If they were established the world would soon be converted and then it would come to an end, and that was not wanted."

CHEHALIS COUNTY MAY FIGHT OLYMPIA.

Montesano Vidette: Olympia is already beginning an active campaign in the capital fight. The wisdom of this action is apparent, especially if Olympia proposes to fight, not only for the capital, but for the land office of the proposed new district. If she persists in urging her claims for this latter prize, Chehalis county may be placed in the column "against Olympia for the capital."

BILL NYE MAY RETALIATE.

Anaconda Standard: The people of Butte did not take very kindly to Bill Nye as a reader, although still professing admiration for him as an author. The press and people having expressed their opinions of his show with characteristic frankness, Mr. Nye in his next letter possibly may reciprocate in a measure by embalming his opinions of Butte.

LAMBS AT THE PARTY ALTAR.

Astoria Columbian: The Clatsop county democrats profess to be working in perfect harmony. They say they will put up the winning ticket. Treuchard and Smith are to be the standard bearers and if the republicans wisely put their strongest men in nomination, this will prove to be a disastrously off year for democracy in Clatsop.

A GOOD MOVE FOR TACOMA.

Tacoma News: The movement started to organize a free library in the city of Tacoma is one that should meet the warm approbation of all classes of citizens, and should be aided by all those whose power it is to help the founding of an institution that will be of great advantage to this city and her people.

THE SUNDAY PAPER.

Goldendale Sentinel: The warfare that is being waged by many ministers of the gospel against the Sunday newspaper seems to fall short of the mark when one reflects that nine-tenths of the labor of producing it is done on Saturday afternoon and night.

NATURE FAVORS THE NORTHWEST.

Hoquiam Washingtonian: While the rest of creation seems to be suffering from convulsions of calamity in general, our favored Northwest has simply been given a little more wet than usual and the spring has been set back a few weeks.

THE WEST OPPOSED TO SHAMS.

Seattle Journal: The West is a hater of shams. It is an honest believer in itself and in its future, and the newspapers of the West reflect that feeling to an extent which is never observable in the East.

THE NEW ERA.

Gen. Gibbon Will Co-operate With the Alpine Club.

MOUNTAINS TO BE EXPLORED

Meeting of the Woman's North Pacific Presbyterian Board of Missions.

AN INTERESTING PROGRAMME

"Fantasma" Scores a Hit at The Marquam Grand—United States Local Inspectors, Etc.

At the meeting of the exploration department of the Oregon Alpine Club last evening a communication was read from Captain A. Tyler, of Forest Grove, expressing regret at being unable to attend the meeting. This information was a disappointment to the meeting, as Captain Tyler was in the Pine creek mining country at the time two deer skinners were lynched for violating the Alpine Club game law, prohibiting the slaughter of deer for their hides.

As will be remembered, a large number of carcasses were found in the vicinity of a mining camp, and the miners being so incensed at such ruthless destruction, swiftly applied the merciless decree of Judge Lynch. Captain Tyler was not an eye witness to the scene, but being in the mining camp at the time, he is no doubt possessed of some very interesting information regarding the hanging bee.

A communication was also read from W. M. Colvig, district attorney at Jacksonville, contradicting an item which appeared recently in THE OREGONIAN, to the effect that the hunters of Southern Oregon were engaged in the wanton slaughter of deer. Mr. Colvig no doubt knows, and he stated that the new law has had the most satisfactory effect in that region. The meeting passed a vote of thanks to him for the active manner in which he has prosecuted violators of the law.

Another communication was read from C. H. Egenmann, of the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, offering the department a supply of alcohol for the purpose of preserving fish, insects, etc.

Should the society undertake to explore the Olympic range, as proposed, W. G. Steele stated that Mr. L. Samuels has offered to donate $250 to the department, provided the intended exploration of the Olympics should be known as the "West Shore Expedition."

General Gibbon assures the society of his good will and desire to co-operate with such an undertaking. A committee consisting, of W. G. Steele and Lieutenant Odell, was then appointed to perfect arrangements and to co-operate with General Gibbon with a view to carry out the proposed plan. All communications on the subject should be addressed to the committee.

As it is the desire of the expedition to have men competent to report on minerals and botany join the party, Mr. Steel will be pleased to hear from botanical and geological experts who may wish to go.

A resolution was then adopted requesting the press of the state to agitate the centennial celebration of the discoveries of Vancouver, Captain Gray and others. The discoveries of these early explorers of 1792 extend over portions of Oregon, Puget sound and British Columbia. An effort will also be made to have the celebration in Portland in order to make the event a grand affair.

WHAT THE INSPECTORS WILL DO.

The Work to Be Performed During the Coming Month Outlined—It Will Be a Busy Season.

A busy term now has commenced for the United States local inspectors, Messrs. Edwards and McDermott. Last Saturday these officials were called upon to inspect the fine steamer Undine. The boat was found to be staunch in every particular, and her machinery worked smoothly. A new license was issued the steamer, which permits her to run for one year. The large steamer R. R. Thompson was also given her annual inspection, and her license was renewed yesterday.

The inspectors intended going around to Yaquina Bay to investigate the charges made against the steamer Wallula, but were detained on account of the sickness of Captain Edwards's wife. Mrs Edwards having recovered, the captain and Mr. McDermott will leave for Newport this morning, and while there will inspect the steamer Favorite. The Wallula is charged with carrying more passengers than her license allows.

On the 18th the inspectors will go to Vancouver, Wash., to inspect the ferry, Alpha No. 2, which crosses the Columbia, at that point, and makes connection with the motor line on the Oregon side. Saturday, the next day, they go to the Cascades to inspect the steamers Quinault, Sakona and Lelo.

On Tuesday, the 22d inst., the inspectors will leave for Astoria, to try the captain of the C. W. Rich, who will answer to several grave charges, which have been preferred by his engineer. If found guilty on any one of the charges the captain stands a good show of having his license revoked, or subjected to a heavy fine.

The inspectors have been notified that the steamer which is being built at a point about forty miles above Rock Island, on the Wenachee river, would soon be finished and ready for inspection. The inspectors will leave for that place shortly. It is reached via Ellensburgh. While there they intend to inspect the ferry boat Rattler, at Rock Island, and the steamer City of Ellensburgh, which runs from Rock Island, up the Wenachee, to the mouth of the Okanogan, a distance of about 100 miles. The steamer is now on the ways at Rock Island undergoing repairs.

It is understood that the new railway company that are building a road through the Okanogan country have purchased the steamer Thomas L. Nixon and intend using her as a tranfer boat at or near Rock Island. The Nixon will also be inspected along with the other steamers at Rock Island.

The local inspectors have received an order from the supervising inspectors of this district notifying them that Shoalwater bay and the steamers plying in those waters had been transferred from the Seattle to the Portland district. The Seattle inspectors have been ordered to supply the local inspectors with the names of steamers, their officers and the addresses.

Some time during the month the steamer D. S. Baker, now lying at The Dalles, undergoing repairs, will be inspected.

THE THEATERS LAST NIGHT.

"Fantasma" Scores a Hit—"Arrah-na-Pogue" at Cordray's—The Minstrels.

By 8 o'clock last evening the Marquam Grand was filled from top to bottom by an expectant audience, whose patience was taxed to the utmost as the minutes glided along until 9 o'clock and after and the curtain did not go up. It was soon generally understood, however, that on account of the train being more than six hours late, the Hanlon Fantasms company had not arrived until 6 o'clock in the evening, and as they carried two carloads of scenery, it was a matter of impossibility to get all the intricate machinery in place and set up without some delay. As it was, the management is entitled to the greatest credit for their herculean efforts to get everything in readiness and for the successful working of everything throughout.

Fantasma, as a spectacular pantomime, is a great entertainment, and the audience was well rewarded for its patient waiting. The piece fairly bubbles over with mirth, music, tricks, transformations, brilliant scenic and laughable grotesque effects, striking tableaux and amusing pantomime, and it took the house by storm. It is a fantasy, and those spectacles that deal with the adventures of mortals in unearthly regions. Witches, sprites, fairies, goblins and all manner of queer and eerie shapes are brought into requisition, and the effect is one continual series of pleasing illusions. The scenery is gorgeous beyond description and the tricks of the clown and the demons, the dances, the ghostly minuet, the sword combat, the bottom of the sea, the mermaids' revels, the grotto of the magic fountain with its bevy of handsome women and beautiful tableaux, and the almost numberless other brilliant and striking things make up a whole that cannot fail to please. It is literally a very kaleidoscope of ever recurring novelty, and it would take a volume to minutely describe this detail. The Hanlon brothers have well preserved their reputation as the cleverest men in their line by their work in "The New Fantasma."

The company is a very capable one throughout. Mr. William Hanlon is a good Farmer Close, and, as the unfortunate Pico, the great Pizzarello gave a fine exhibition of pantomimic art. Miss Rose Forte made a charming Fantasma, and she was ably assisted by the pretty Emily Northup as Serena. Ida Maussey makes a beautiful Lena and Little Tootsey in her specialties was as clever as could be wished. The Le Fre brothers are most admirable dancers and clever pantomimists, and their work, especially in the giraffe scene, brought them great applause. Mr. A. G. Orcutt's songs were heartily enjoyed and warmly applauded. Lack of space prevents mention of the other members of the cast, all of whom did their work well. "Fantasma" again to-night.

Cordray's Theater.

This popular amusement resort held a fine audience last night to witness the production of the Irish drama "Arrah-na-Pogue" by the stock company. The piece is one of those dramas of life on the Emerald isle showing the devotion of the peasantry to their "squire," and is well within the very excellent capabilities of the Musee Company. It is well done by them, too.

Miss Essie Tutell, as Arrah, has a role to which she does ample justice. She uses the brogue with discretion, and gives to her rendition of the part throughout an intelligence which insures success. James D. Wills, as the roguish Shaun, does a neat bit of Irish comedy. Mr. R. E. French makes a manly Colonel O'Grady, C. M. Gray, as Michael Feeny, is equal to the demands of the part. The remainder of the cast were up to the requirements.

The piece was well staged and costumed, and went smoothly.

"Arrah-na-Pogue" will be run for the week.

Cleveland's Minstrels.

The second performance of the minstrels at the New Park theater last night was as heartily enjoyed and evoked as much applause as did that of the opening night.

There will be a matinee on Wednesday afternoon, a change of bill on that evening and the last performance on Thursday night.

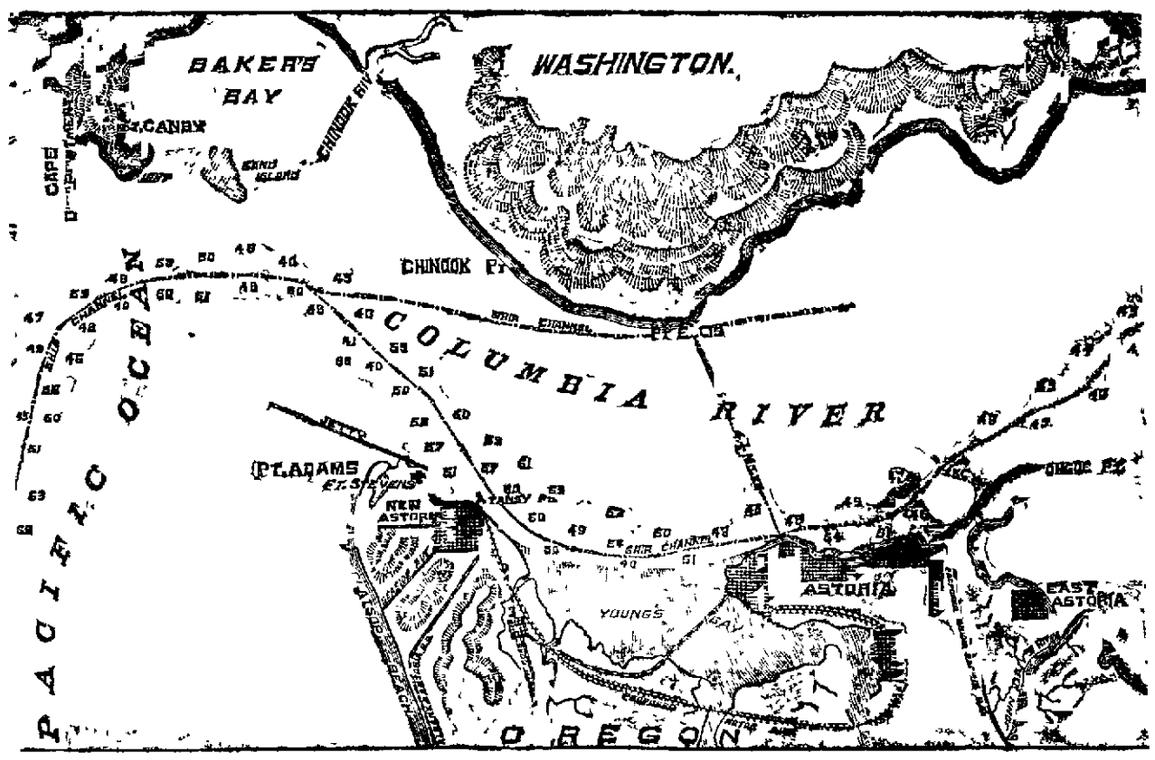
NEW ASTORIA.



NEW ASTORIA, situated just across Young's Bay from Astoria, about 3 1-2 miles distant, is one of the most inviting fields for investment in the Northwest. On the completion of the Astoria & South Coast Railroad, and the Albany & Astoria Railroad, the business lots now selling for $150 to $200 will doubtless be very valuable. The history of New Tacoma will be repeated. There is sure to be a great city at the mouth of the Columbia river, and New Astoria is the most desirable location for a city that could be selected, and with two great railroads terminating here, New Astoria is destined to become a great shipping and commercial center. Those who are most familiar with the situation are the most eager for investment.

NEW ASTORIA has deep water frontage and good anchorage, and a harbor well sheltered from dangerous winds. Look at this map and see why the Astoria & South Coast Railway Co., and the Albany & Astoria Railroad Co., have selected terminal shipping facilities here. Only 70 miles more to be graded to connect New Astoria with the great Southern Pacific Railway system. Send for descriptive circular and map of New Astoria. Only a few years ago a block in Spokane Falls was offered for $300, it is now reported to be worth $300,000. New Astoria will surely have as rapid growth as any city in the Northwest. Make a thorough investigation and act accordingly.

The Delegates Are Pouring in on Every Train.

TWELVE TREASURY CANDIDATES

Thompson Leads For Governor—Bean Said to Be Out of the Race—The Multnomah Delegation—Gossip With Candidates.

Delegates to the republican state convention continue to pour into the city by every train. Most of them profess to be unpledged, excepting for district nominations.

The governorship has plainly narrowed down to Thompson and Moody. Neither of the two candidates desires to discuss his prospects for publication but their friends are busy counting up noses. Claims are now openly put forward that Thompson has 118 votes assured for the first ballot, only 110 being necessary to a choice. This is understood to comprise the united Multnomah delegation Eastern and ex reme Southern Oregon representatives. Mr Thompson s office at the Commercial National bank was the scene yesterday of a constant procession of politicians trying to sound him on the other nominations on the ticket. In this, however they unanimously reported disappointment Mr Thompson does not appear so far desirous of forming any combination. It appears to be admittedly his best policy not to do so. The only effect of such a move would be to alienate many now favorably inclined to him. His conversation with the delegates was uniformly cordial and unreserved as to his prospects and his position upon those questions which will come up during the campaign.

A reporter had a few minutes conversation with ex Governor J F Moody at the St. Charles yesterday afternoon. He professed himself wholly at sea as to the probable outcome of the convention. He was merely passing through he said without regard to the of the convention Moody s friends rely upon the middle valley Wasco s united vote, and upon all who are opposed to Thompson. Claims are also made of the following seven names in the Multnomah delegation J A. Brown John Robertson W W Spaulding A H. Tanner O B. Paxton, O J Laird and F N Shurtleff. All or part of the delegations from Wasco Gilliam Cook Malheur Marion, Polk Sherman, Benton, Clackamas Clatsop Lane and Linn counties are also claimed for Moody. Thompson is considered by many the strongest man that can be run against Pennoyer. The strength of the man who said he would be governor, and kept his word, is also used as an argument by the Moody men for their candidate. Pennoyer's attitude on the Bull Run water bill is already being used for political capital by democrats through the country precincts. Thompson here appears to be between two fires. The fact that he voted for the bill will be used against him in the country and the allegation that he worked against it will be pressed in Portland. Moody however was not identified either way in the fight a fact urged strongly in his favor.

As only a minority of the delegates have arrived the returns of state treasury candidates is probably not yet complete. To date there are only eleven candidates known of. They are Phil Metchan John C Carson, W J Snodgrass, Thomas Wright E. H Mix John C Lester John Bean J L Faull, J W Cusick J to Gray J C Tolman and S W Blaisdell. Metchan s friends figure up something like this Baker 4 Grant, 3 Harney 4 Gilliam 6 Morrow (doubtful), 4 Crook, 5 Umatilla 1, and a part of Wasco. Umatilla is supposed to be for Metchan for second choice after Leasure.

Colonel E H Mix of Baker City came in yesterday morning. He has been a candidate for the office of state treasurer for something like a year back and his friends say that he would have had a larger following than he has if it had not been bruited about that he was out of the race. He is urged for the place as being a strong man in rail road army and militia circles and one who would have much strength throughout Eastern Oregon. Mr Mix did not care to discuss his prospects for the treasury nomination but had a good word to say for Baker City. He brings the news that the committee appointed by the Board of Trade to meet Giroux had decided upon an arrangement which it would submit to the place for a proposed extensive smelting foundry, milling and stamping plant sufficient to treat all the ores in the large mining district now tributary to Baker City and also the country which will be rendered tributary to it by the new road to the Sumpter district, passing through the finest timber country in Eastern Oregon. The new $65 000 hotel is nearing completion and will open in June. The ties for the street railway are now on the ground and work will go forward as soon as the surveys now under way are completed.

Metchan and Mix started a movement early in the day for a caucus of the Eastern Oregon delegation. The candidates on hand were divided on the proposition, but pressure enough was finally brought to bear to warrant a call for a caucus. One will be held at the parlors of the St Charles hotel this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Many delegates are firmly convinced that it is only by getting together and uniting upon their strongest man for treasurer that their representation upon the ticket can be assured. Otherwise they say, they will fall in the soup as they have hitherto done.

Mr J W Cusick is on the ground, looking up his chances for the treasurership. Mr Cusick is well thought of and will have a strong following from the valley outside of the strength that seems to be ready to come to him in the event of Moody s nomination for governor.

Hon J P Faull went up to Salem yesterday to attend a meeting of the state railroad commission and could not be seen. How many of the Multnomah delegation will vote for him even a matter of fruitless speculation. Personal inquiry of the delegates only elicits the response that they have not canvassed the matter. They are accredited with being divided and with having individual leanings toward several of the leading candidates.

The candidacy of J C. Leasure, of Pendleton, which developed yesterday morning for the treasurership, gave rise to a great many conjectures. One of the most plausible was that his bid for that place was merely a ruse by which he might make a combination with the anti Hermann votes to nominate Metchan for treasurer and his self for congress. One of Metchan s warmest advocates however, says that Metchan's people are first Hermann people.

Union's eight votes are said to stand Wright 5 Snodgrass 2, Mix 1. Metchan Mix and Cusick each claim some twenty five votes, outside of the Multnomah delegation.

The supreme judgeship is second only to the treasury portfolio in the number of applicants. Tree canal lates put fors ard are D R N Black burn of Albany Jas. McInnis of Independence J J Bailey J W Bailey J F Watson Warren Truitt and R S Bean.

The statement was again strongly put forward yesterday that the republicans of the Second judicial district would be unwilling for Judge Bean to leave that circuit. It is understood to have been anxious to comply with the wishes of his friends and if his sentiment should become pronounced he will be at once out of the race.

It is considered doubtful if the supreme court nomination can go to Watson or Whalley unless the Moody Cusick ticket wins. Should Eastern Oregon fail to unite on the treasury nomination, Judge J J Ballaray of Pendleton will be urged for the supreme court nomination. Judge Ballaray served the two years term there of 1882 4. He has always been loyal and prominently identified with the party and is now practicing law at Pendleton. He replied to a question about his candidacy that he was far more anxious for Eastern Oregon to secure the treasurership than for himself to be nominated for supreme judge.

Warren Truitt s candidacy has by no means dropped out of sight with Simon s defeat at the Portland primaries. He has many friends and will come into the convention with a considerable following.

Mr A M Crawford of the Coos county delegation said: The two free proxies out of our six votes. One of them will be cast by J H. Roberts and the third by Dr Fowler. The other three will be cast by senator C. Blair, Robert Walker and Daniel Geles who will be here Tuesday. We are for Thompson and Curry s three votes will probably go with us. For treasurer we are still at sea. For supreme judge we favor J F Watson. He was formerly our circuit judge, is well liked there and is the strongest man with us for the place, with the possible exception of Bean. I think Bean is out of the race.

Mr R. R. Hays county clerk of Tillamook county, now reported mixed in the delegate has received the report of the democratic convention. They are Judge H F Hyde, commissioner W C Kelso clerk W W Condon sheriff Sam Dawson assessor M T Roberts surveyor R J D Edwards, school superintendent Mrs. J W McClure.

Delegates John K Fisher and Sheriff J S Henshaw of Baker county, came in last evening.

The proposal of a Portland man for supreme judge has stirred up some of the county delegates. One of them said: Portland wants the two United States senate governor state printer all the judge s appointments and now supreme judge. Mr Earhart tells me that he has now over 400 applications out. And from would be deputies all over the state and asking him why he does not list post for us. When the rascals out. There is another hobo to. The Federal deputies are always a good officeholder s rather than to lose a single member s of the party who have done the work and sent the money that has carried it.

Three A P wer candidates for state printer on the union labor ticket withdrew his nomination yesterday. It is understood Pat Captain John O Brien of Portland will be named by the executive committee to fill the vacancy. If Captain O Brien is nominated the democrats will probably indorse him.

Four of Lane county's ten delegates came in on the Southern Pacific s delayed overland last evening and registered at the Holton. Their names are S. M Moran J M. Hodge S W Condon and B F Alley. They are all at sea, the say, on all state nominations but state treasurer. They have a candidate of their own J G Gray, of Eugene. They are solid for Hon Seymour W Condon for prosecuting attorney of their district. Mr Condon was one of the most promising of the younger members of the last house of representatives. For those qualities of intellectual vigor and sterling manhood which make for popularity and useful ness none c n s and higher than he.

COMPLIMENTED BY ALL

The Magnificent Display of Furniture at Forbes & Breeden's Attracts a Great Crowd

Yesterday was a gala day for the ladies of the city who turned out in full force to attend the opening of Messrs Forbes & Breeden s palatial furniture establishment at the corner of First and Yamhill streets. From 8 o clock in the morning till late in the evening the store which extends through from First to Front street was crowded with the elite of the city who wandered through the long aisles between ranges of furniture of all kinds of the latest and most elegant designs just arrived from the most celebrated manufacturers in the country.

The lower floor contained bookcases, escritoires, buffets sideboards, chiffoniers, music stands bedroom suits etc., in great profusion, of a more artistic design and elegant finish than have ever been seen here before.

The upper part of the building was filled with chairs of all kinds tables, lounges settees etc some very costly and some less expensive, for the firm carries a full stock adapted to the wants of all classes.

The First street front of the upper story is divided into a long hall and suite of rooms which were the great center of attraction and drew exclamations of delight and admiration from the ladies and the reso ts as well and caused the enterprising proprietors to receive many flattering commendations for their enterprise and good taste in selecting and arrang ng their stock.

The hall was lined with hall furniture hat racks hall seats umbrella stands, etc., in many handsome and elegant designs.

The first room is used as a curtain room and contains an elegant stock of curtains, portieres, etc in chenille velours lace etc.

The next room was fitted up as a bedroom, with magnificent bedstead, massive dresser commode, etc., in sixteenth century style beautifully carved, with large plate glass mirror antique cabinets chairs in sixteenth century leather settee in tapestry etc. everything in the very latest and most elegant style.

Another room was fitted with dinning room furniture magnificent ex ansion tables sideboard, buffets chairs china closet, etc. in antique look and sixteenth century styles, beautifully finished and of very handsome design.

Another room was furnished as a library with handsome carved oak escritoire bookcase chairs and settees of solid mahogany upholstered in real tapestry handsome wall brackets in novel and elegant designs, pedestals with artistic statuary and banners in oil painting of the very latest style. The corner room was furnished as a parlor with elegant and costly chairs and settees upholstered in silk damask, mahogany center tables, corner and wall brackets, music stand and a number of cabinets and stands in polished brass and onyx on which were rare vases and beautiful articles. To attempt a detailed description of the many beautiful articles in those rooms would be useless and to give an idea of the many words of approval and exclamations of delight they recelv d would be impossible. Along to ard evening many of the pieces were decorated with the word sold.

A reporter who strolled in to see the fine furniture and the crowd jotted down the remarks made by a few of those present but in no discovered by some ladies in the act, was forced to beat a hasty retreat. Following are a few of the compliments paid to Messrs Forbes & Breeden.

Mrs S A Hill—You deserve success you have the finest stock in the city. Your store is a credit to Portland.

Mrs M Levy—You have a very fine stock. There so many novelties that no one can fail to be satisfied. I never saw such a fine stock, not even in San Francisco.

Mrs G J Pearce of Salem.—When I want anything nice in the furniture line I know where to look for it. There is a cabinet I am just in love with.

Mrs C N Scott—I am amazed and surprised at the extent and beauty of the stock.

Mrs W J Vandehuyver—I think the display is simply magnificent. My surprise increases as I go from one room to another.

Mrs. W H Saulpaugh—I want to congratulate you on your magnificent store and stock. I think it is a credit to the city of Portland.

Mrs G W Bates—I have not been able heretofore to suit myself in fine parlor goods. I have been waiting for your stock. Now I am able to make my selections (which she proceeded to do buying liberally.)

Mrs. Myrick—It is just grand. Everything is beautiful. I should like to take everything out of my house and refurnish it.

Mrs Wallace—I think the furniture is perfectly lovely. You deserve a great deal of credit for your enterprise.

Mrs Val Heuse ner—I am more than delighted with the appearance of the store. You have the choicest line of furniture in the city.

Mrs B. Farra l—The display is lovely and the prices so reasonable.

A lady who had her back to the reporter said: It is lovely. I like the style of everything it is all new and beautiful.

Mr and Mrs. D Daigleish, who have lately returned from a trip to Europe expressed themselves delighted with the display and said that during their travels they had not seen in any establishment such a fine show of furniture nor any display so elegantly arranged. Even in New York they had not seen such a display of new and elegant styles. They had bought some pieces of furniture there and find that they could have done better if they had waited till they came here.

An old Eastern furniture dealer remarked: Beyond a doubt you have the best arranged and most complete store I have ever been in.

The following comment came from one of a knot of prominent furniture men who had looked through the display. No use talking, boys, you have without doubt the finest stock in the city.

A splendid new delivery wagon, with a pair of magnificent horses and harness to match, all in keeping with the balance of the establishment and costing not less than $1000, stood in front of the store and a trained general attention. Messrs. Forbes & Breeden, and their employes, must have been pretty well worn out last night but they ought to have been happy for their opening was the grandest success in that line ever seen here.

NEW FIRE ENGINE.

Victory for a Portland Man.

At the meeting of the common council at Tacoma on Saturday evening last the purchasing committee of the council was instructed to buy one of the double eight cylinder Lindgren chemical fire engines handled only by Mr Z T Wright of this city. Mr Wright naturally feels much elated over his victory owing largely to the fact that he was in strong competition with large Eastern houses. But the gentleman says that when he learned that the city of Tacoma intended to simply take time enough to thoroughly investigate the claims of all chemical engines he was sure of the result that has just been reached. He knew full well that nothing in the market could equal his engine in active service.

The fluid used in this engine for extinguishing fires is perfectly harmless to either flesh or fabric but it will immediately extinguish fire. It is ready for use at all times. The Lindgren is made in sizes suitable for hand use. Stationaries are built for large buildings and so constructed that they can be used instantly on any floor or in any part of the building or mill. The two wheel engine is used in towns or villages mills lumber yards etc. The four wheel machines are used in cities. Mr Wright says that this company furnish to special order a combination four wheel double truck engine with hook and ladder truck combined. Mr Wright s place of business is at the foot of Morrison street in this city. By calling there he will take great pleasure in showing the merits of the Lindgren to all those wishing to secure their property from destruction by the fire fiend.

STIRRING TIMES

Port Townsend All Bustle Over the Railroad Work.

PORT TOWNSEND April 13.—[Special Correspondence.]—All through the day for the last week or two wagon after wagon loaded down with supplies for the rail road camps have regularly left the city for the front. It requires several thousand dollars worth of provisions to feed the large gang of railroad men now at work on the line. Two steamers arrived last week laden with rail road tools and the several wharves at this place were covered with the implements.

The city is extremely lively especially when the railroad laborers are paid off. The camps are located only a few miles from the town and the men employed come into Port Townsend in gangs. A couple of variety theaters running in full blast here also greatly enliven the aspect of this place by night.

BARBED WIRE DECISION.

Explanation of the Far-Reaching Significance of Judge Deady's Opinion.

The Case Appears to Have a Wide Interest For Barb Wire Dealers and Consumers—President Edenborn and Attorney Bennett.

The great barbed wire interests of the country appear to be very much concerned in the decision rendered yesterday by Judge Matthew P Deady in the United States circuit court. The cases are denominated the Washburn & Moon Manufacturing Company and Fillwood vs. Knapp Burrell & Co. Knapp Burrell & Co. being agents for the St. Louis Wire Mill Co. of St. Louis and the Bradlock Wire Co of Pittsburg Pa.

The complainants claiming under the Glidden patent s brought suit against Knapp Burrell & Co and applied for the court for an injunction to restrain the defendants from the sell or manufacture of the St Louis and Braddock companies. The cases were argued before Judge Deady on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, when the court took the cases under advisement, with the statement that decisions would be rendered Monday Yesterday accordingly Judge Deady rendered an opinion denying the motion for injunctions, and holding that as to the Glidden reissue which is the essential patent owned by the complainants it was invalid, and therefore dismissed the bill of complaint. The complainants having no standing in the court.

As to the second Glidden patent on which the complainants asked an injunction, the court denied the injunction on the ground that the complainants were entitled to no equitable relief. These cases involved the question of complainants to a monopoly of the barbed wire business they claiming that the manufacture and sale of Glidden wire by other than themselves was unlawful.

The effect of the decision of the courts that the manufacture and sale of Glidden wire is public property and that neither the complainants nor anyone else has the right to a monopoly. It appears according to the showing made, that the Glidden reissue has previously been declared invalid in the United States circuit for the eastern district of Missouri and that the Glidden patent of November 1874 had been declared invalid by the United States circuit court for the district of Iowa and that these cases were an attempt on the part of the complainants to overcome the effect of those decisions and revive the patents. This however Judge Deady following prior adjudications holding the patents invalid decreed to do. As the decision stands the courts are handed that they are to the effect that until a reversal by the supreme court of the United States the complainants patents stand and are to be treated as invalid.

Mr John R. Bennett the New York attorney who came out to argued the cases and whose specialty is patent law said in commenting upon the decision to a reporter:

These complainants although residing in Worcester Mass., have seen fit to proceed against dealers and agents instead of the manufacturers who reside at St Louis and Pittsburg and are known to be among the wealthiest manufacturing firms in the United States. This and which vests in the belief that having no patents that would be regarded as having any validity in the federal courts, they could nevertheless to a certain extent control the business by bringing suits against agents and dealers in remote parts of the United States and with that object in view they have brought suit against dealers in almost all the different states in the Union. But in no one of them have they dared to bring the issues involved to the point of judicial investigation and decision at once.

The complainants brought a suit at Pittsburg against the Braddock Wire Company, and applied for an injunction in March 1888. But when the day of hearing came and they found the defendants ready in court they withdrew that motion, and in fact say that they had no standing in the court. From that time until the bringing of these cases against Knapp, Burrell & Co. they have done nothing but bring suits against dealers and agents in the hope of intimidating and thus destroying the trade of the manufacturers but in this they have signally failed owing to the fact that their patents stood in such a light that would have had no standing in the courts and the manufacturers have assumed the defense of all suits brought against their customers. I believe that the effect of Judge Deady s decision will be to even put a stop to that most disreputable practice.

Had the complainants any confidence in their patents there is no reason why they should not have tested all the questions involved directly against the St Louis Wire Mill Company in St Louis.

Aside from the consideration of the motives prompting the complainants to these and similar cases the fact is that the manufacturers of the St Louis and Braddock companies intend not only protecting and saving harmless consumers of their products but to pursue these complainants to the point where they will be compelled to submit, which event they have to the supreme court of the United States. In the case in which Judge Shiras of Iowa decreed the Glidden November patent was invalid an appeal was taken to the supreme court of the United States. The case on appeal will probably be reached for argument in February or March of 1891. The determination of that case will determine all of the questions at issue. As to the result of that decision I have not the slightest doubt believing as I do that the supreme court will hold that Merely and not Glidden was the inventor of the wire barb and that there was no invention on the part of Glidden, assuming that he invented all that he claims in view of the patent to Kelly. I can only view the course being pursued by the complainants as most disreputable in the extreme, and one which should receive the condemnation of every reputable dealer as well as every one having occasion to use barbed wire.

Mr William Edenborn, the president of the St. Louis and Braddock companies is at The Portland and said in conversation with a reporter yesterday that in this controversy, no matter when or where their customers are attacked by the complainants in these suits for infringement, they will be defended at the expense of his companies and saved absolutely harmless, and that on moral principles his companies intend to stand by their customers.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 14.—stocks to-day were stronger and more active than usual of late, and material improvement was made in all portions of the list. The great feature of the day was the improvement in the Western railroad situation and the growing feeling that the early settlement of the difficulties in that section was near a satisfactory solution. The upward movement was practically uninterrupted, and only in the last hour was there anything like a halt. Rock Island, Missouri Pacific, Burlington, St. Paul and Lackawanna were most prominent in dealings, and in these shares the most important movements were made. It was freely stated on the street to-day that J. Pierpont Morgan's departure for Europe had for one of its objects the placing of about $40,000,000 in various railroad issues on foreign markets. The close was steady to firm, everything being higher to-night. Government steady.

GRANT'S PASS is located on the Oregon & California Railroad, 300 miles south of Portland and in the heart of the famous Rogue River Valley—the Santa Clara of Oregon.

GRANT'S PASS contained but a single dwelling prior to the extension of the Oregon & California Railroad in 1883. Present population exceeds 2500.

GRANT'S PASS erected 212 buildings, including a $30,000 brick opera house, during the last seven months of 1889.

GRANT'S PASS property quadrupled in value between May and December, 1889, and bids fair to do the same during the first six months of 1890.

GRANT'S PASS is the county seat of Josephine county, one of the extreme southern counties of Oregon, and is known throughout the state as the home of the fig and vine.

GRANT'S PASS has ten general merchandise stores, doing an aggregate cash business of over $3000 per day, and plenty room for more.

GRANT'S PASS is the sole distributing point for 1800 square miles of the most prolific territory on the Pacific Coast, embracing the whole of Josephine county.

GRANT'S PASS has shipped $2,320,000 worth of gold dust since 1863, being the output of a few partially developed placer mines in Josephine county.

GRANT'S PASS has one sash and door factory, with a paid up capital of $125,000, affording employment to over 200 men all the year round.

GRANT'S PASS has twenty saw mills in operation in the Sugar Pine Forests, within a radius of 28 miles, and ships more lumber and manufactured woodwork than any town in Oregon, except Portland.

GRANT'S PASS is situated on the north bank of the beautiful Rogue River, which, in addition to its charming scenic features, affords a 50,000-horsepower for manufacturing purposes.

GRANT'S PASS is surrounded by the forest wealth of Michigan, the precious metals of Montana, the marble quarries of Vermont, and the semi-tropic fruit fields of Southern California.

GRANT'S PASS, by reason of its wonderfully diversified resources, affords an inviting field for the speculator, the manufacturer, the miner, the dairyman, the fruit grower, the lumberman, the stock-raiser, and last, but not least, the inactive healthseeker.

GRANT'S PASS is a new pushing town, has drawn its support from the progressive sections, has no "winged insects on it," and offers no special inducements to the "mossback."

GRANT'S PASS has a daily stage line and mail service to Crescent City, California, and a telephone line to the same point, 87 miles distant, is now being built.

GRANT'S PASS has a national bank with a paid up capital of $50,000, and its deposits for the first two weeks of its existence, from January 1 to January 13, 1890, footed up over $50,000.

GRANT'S PASS is going to be the great midland city of Oregon and California.

THE CROP BULLETIN.

Fifth of the Series That Have Been Issued for This Season.

THE PROSPECTS ARE FAVORABLE

How the Wheat and Oats, Vegetables and Fruits Generally Look—Effects of Rain and Temperature—Buds—Etc

Mr. E. S. Pague observer of the United States signal service, has issued the following weather crop bulletin being the fifth of the series for the season of 1890. The report is for the week ending Saturday April 5.

The temperature continues below the average for this period of the year. Since January 1 it has averaged nearly 4 deg. daily below the normal. The precipitation for the week has been below the average. Since January 1 it is about 9 per centum above the normal. The amount of sunshine continues below the average.

During the week rain has fallen and sleet fell in all parts of the State. Upon the Interior valleys the second week of April is a most unusual occurrence. From a trace to one inch of snow fell in the Willamette on the morning of the 11th but melted as it fell, or had disappeared by noon. The thermometer throughout the state received a fresh coating of snow. The 8th and 9th were warm, and bright sunshine prevailed.

WHEAT

The winter wheat crop continues in a promising condition but it has but little growth. Reports indicate that it is forming excellent stools and abunda nt yields are expected.

FRUIT

Fruit trees are slowly developing their blossoms. Peaches and apricots are generally well advanced. Cherry and apple trees are showing their leaves. Ornamental and forest trees are also showing tips of leaves. The week has advanced the leafing and blossoming very little.

FARM OPERATIONS, ETC

Oats and wheat are being sown in favored localities on uplands. The lowlands continue too wet for much work to be done on them. Gardens are being prepared. Grass is not growing as rapidly as is desired.

The season continues backward and slow. Warmer weather and more sunshine needed.

NEW EVIDENCE SECURED

John Ferguson of the Olan Mackenzie, in San Francisco

The Oregon Clan Mackenzie collision case is not settled yet by any means. The evidence which at first threw the entire blame of the collision on the officers of the Oregon has in the minds of some been greatly impaired by the Union Pacific securing an important witness in the person of one of the crew of the Clan Mackenzie.

A prominent Union Pacific official, speaking of the matter to a reporter yesterday, said that John Ferguson third officer of the damaged ship, has been and is ready to testify that the light on the Clan Mackenzie was being cleaned and was not put in its place in the rigging until a moment before the Oregon struck. Ferguson has not been on the Mackenzie for two weeks and it is understood that he went to San Francisco on the last steamer to testify before United States Supervising Inspector N. S. Lubbock before whom the case of Pilot George A. Pease was carried and is now being tried.

The testimony given by Ferguson is said to corroborate and explain that of Captain Pease who said: "When I turned around Gabriel Point I looked ahead and saw a light which I took to be on Coffin Rock. After looking up from my course I took [illegible] for the first time two lights and also discovered, when it was too late that one of the lights was on a ship.

On the other hand the evidence given by the third officer is denied by the captain, mate and watchman of the Mackenzie. Captain Simpson said yesterday that Ferguson was not an officer of the ship, merely a seaman, although he has on several occasions introduced himself as such. The captain says that the sailor deserted the ship and manufactured the story hoping, by so doing, to obtain money from those interested in the Oregon.

The negro watchman of the Mackenzie has sworn that no one was on deck at the time of the collision but it is understood that Ferguson stands ready to refute this evidence also that the old watchman did not "holler" for any long time at the approaching vessel as claimed. For had he done so he (Ferguson) as well as all the sailors which were asleep in the forecastle would have heard him and turned out.

The case which is becoming puzzling, may take the courts some time to unravel and also may result in some one being held to answer to the charge of perjury.

BUILDING ACTIVITY

Approaching a Building Boom—Anacortes Will Be a City

ANACORTES, April 11.—[Special Correspondence.] The Oregon Improvement Company's land office presided over by Mr. Abercrombie, the land commissioner was opened yesterday, and is a neat structure.

There is at present a large number of fine building erected and in course of erection on the Mt. Vaught Land Company's addition and several gangs of men are to be seen clearing and grading the several streets preparatory to planting.

Several Italian laborers arrived yesterday to work on the railroad, and as soon as the construction engine arrives a lively time is anticipated at Anacortes.

Mr. Bowman has assumed control of the new hotel here furnished it throughout and hopes to open it to the public early next week.

Many of those passengers at the Walla Walla which sailed from San Francisco yesterday are booked for Anacortes attracted hither by the published report of its thriving city.

The following arrived to day: C. W. Wilson, son, Joshua Fenton and son of Tacoma; C. De Bamara and wife and Mrs. Robinson, of Fort Townsend; M. Tobe J. N. Prather, E. Hall, R. Tytle, San Francisco; P. J. Wheeler, Oak and, Cal.; J. Manning, London, England.

Second Manager—Dead is no name for it. You have to send carriages to the deadheads.

First Manager—But a good deal depends upon what the attractions are, doesn't it?

Second Manager—Doesn't make any difference at all. You couldn't get a good audience for the Declaration of Independence with the original cast.

BEYOND THE WILLAMETTE.

Active Work Commenced on the New Centenary M. E. Church

The Twelfth Street Bridge—A Heavy Cut—Archbishop Morris—Sunday School Organized—Cement Foundations—Etc.

A force of men commenced preparing the site for the Methodist building for removal over the corner of Nineteenth and Everett streets yesterday afternoon. The building, which is to be moved, is a two-story frame structure, and is now occupied by Mrs. Hall's private school. The main building will be moved first, and the L will follow. The latter will be used as a kitchen and dining room, and many of the pupils of the school are boarders. When it was first proposed to move the building to the corner of Nineteenth and Everett streets, the largest and most expensive trees on the lot were marked for removal, but it is thought that the magnificent and extensive trees which can be found on the grounds of the Hall property will be spared. The building will be moved to the corner of Nineteenth and Everett streets, and will be used as a church and Sunday-school room until the new church is completed. The building will be placed on a brick foundation, and will be remodeled and refitted for church purposes. The work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by the middle of May.

ARCHBISHOP MORRIS.

"Are they Methodists?" This was the question nearly every one asked as a family stepped from the two-horse hack before the residence of Mr. Hall on Fourth street yesterday morning, and walked up the street. There were fourteen children, boys and girls, ranging from 4 years upwards. There were besides them two energetic and bright looking women. One of the men was a tall, lean Irishman, while the other was a short, fat, jolly looking man. It is stated that they were from Ireland.

COMMENCED WORK.

The contractor has commenced work on the construction of the Twelfth street bridge across Salmon gulch. Great piles of dirt are being taken from the grounds at the south approach, and hauled to the bridge. Work is also progressing on the south approach. Until the bridge is finished, Front Portland and Portland Heights will be connected by the old wagon road, which is now being graded and repaired.

TO BUILD THE EXTENSION.

Preparations were made yesterday to build the trestle work for the extension of the Harrison avenue railway from Front to Water streets. The Willamette river was first to be crossed, and the contractor, Mr. Hall, was engaged in putting in the piles. Mr. Hall's men were also engaged in putting in the piles for the foundation of the new engine house. The Portland Railway Company's engine house will be built on the block bounded by Front, Water, Harrison and Hall streets.

CEMENT FOUNDATIONS.

In place of brick, which cannot be obtained, a great many new buildings are being constructed with cement foundations. Brick is found to be very good, but the prices asked by manufacturers have become so high that many builders are using cement instead. Many of the largest and most expensive buildings in the country are built on cement foundations, and it is said that they will last as long as the walls themselves.

SMALL DAMAGE.

John Zumwalt was awarded $5 damages from J. H. Fisk because the latter, while digging on a ground on Second street, Mr. Fisk built an embankment that interfered with Zumwalt's ground. Mr. Zumwalt's attorney argued that the embankment did not interfere with the use of the ground, but Zumwalt thought that the embankment did not look enough.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ORGANIZED.

A Sunday school was organized Sunday last at Sunnyside by the Methodist denomination. Will Mr. Lane was superintendent and Mrs. Butler assistant. The regular hour for the Sunday school will be 2 P. M. It is very probable that a church will be built at Sunnyside this year.

MINOR EVENTS.

Mrs. Porter of Portland is to have two new cottages built on Piedmont.—Enterprise.

Sunday there were baptized at the Centenary M. E. church fifteen infants and thirteen adults.

The painters yesterday finished the two cottages on Jefferson street, belonging to Solomon Hirsch.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sargent was buried at Rivers cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Lily lodge I. O. G. T. gave a very pleasant social and entertainment last night at the hall on Fifth and Stanton streets.

J. N. Sanders, who was for many years a miner and county clerk, was in the city yesterday shaking hands with his many old friends.

The fire hydrant on Third and Jefferson is constantly leaking, and the water runs under the roadway, causing an unhealthy accumulation. The leak should be attended to.

Dr. C. P. Kellerman will preach in the Albina M. E. church every Sunday this week, except February 16 and the 16th, when he will go under the direction of Mr. C. W. Lear.

A large surveying party with a compass and level from the North Pacific Railway Company, passed over the Willamette bridge yesterday morning. They were engaged in surveying the line of the road.
